Behind the scenes of the Pembroke Hill school is a group of people who keep all of the odds and ends fixed, the grounds clean and safe and allow the school to operate in its smooth, controlled way. The maintenance staff's job encompasses a great deal more than most students realize. They are responsible for mowing the sports fields, removing snow, fixing the plethora of water leaks in the upper school, cleaning all of the messes students make and other general maintenance.

Another important group of individuals to the Pembroke Hill community is the kitchen staff. Students, staff, teachers and administrators alike all rely on Tom, Matt and their staff to satiate their daily want for nourishment. The scale of the service is enormous. The kitchen staff on both campuses serves almost 1900 meals a day including salad, soup, drinks and dessert.

PRIMARY SCHOOL OVERVIEW

It was an exiting year for the Primary School. The Primary School includes pre-kindergarten to second grade. In the classroom, the pre-kindergarten has been cooking, singing, using the computer, and playing all kinds of games. They took field trips to the Nelson Art Gallery, outdoor school, the pumpkin farm, the Apple Orchard, the Lobster Pot, and the zoo.

The kindergarten curriculum is similar to that of the pre-k, but it involved more seatwork. They took field trips to the Green Mill Candy Factory, the fire station, Children's Mercy Hospital, and Kaleidoscope.

In the first grade, they were learning regular math, Language Arts, and writing stories. This year, their field trips include a trip to the pumpkin farm and one to Price Chopper.

The second grade went to the American Royal, the zoo, the museum, and the pig farm. They had an exchange day with Switzer School. They also wrote stories on the computer, took care of mice and chickens, and, of course, they learned math and Language Arts.

The preschool had a busy year. Much of the time was spent on arts and crafts including painting and working with clay. Other activities were also available to the kids, such as listening to records and putting clothes on from the dress up place. A lot of energy was also put into teaching the children to get along with each other and not to fight.

During the fall, the preschoolers studied the Indians, made a teepee, learned sign language, and also ate native Indian foods. One of the highlights was a visit from the Indians at Haskell College. Ian Correa commented, "The Indians dressed up like Indians and the boys played good drums . . . The whole school danced." The kids also had a traditional Thanksgiving feast.

What could buffalos, goats, pumpkins, fire stations, and candy possibly have in common? Nothing, unless you are a member of the Kindergarten class. The twenty-one Kindergarteners traveled to many exciting places including the Pumpkin Patch at Crown Center and the Farmstead. There they were introduced to farm animals. A highlight of the year was the annual visit to the Green Mills Candy Factory. The Kindergarten class also went to the local police and fire stations, where they found out about their responsibility to the community. These learning experiences were only a part of the curriculum. In the classroom, the children had opportunities to participate in music, art, and computer activities. They even found the time to play with the resident hamster and cat.

Every day, each student was allowed to design a personal schedule which could include visits to the various parts of the room. The inviting classroom reflected the twenty one hopeful futures of all who occupied it.

This year's first grade class was a very outgoing bunch. The class of 1999 is the first class that has been co-educational since preschool. The students learned basic reading skills, Word Attack, and language skills.

First grade math differs from all other classes' math courses. There is an attempt in first grade to facilitate the students' development of math concepts by using tangible objects.

The first graders also reached out into the community by taking several field trips. They ventured to such places as Snoopy's Pumpkin Patch and the Kansas City Zoo.

First grade teacher Marjorie Smith said, "They are really a super class with great support from the parents. The students were able to work together amazingly well. They are all great kids."

In addition to expanding basic skills learned in the first grade, this years second grade class explored many new and exciting areas. A study of nutrition, great Americans, and the human body made up this year's curriculum. In addition, the students took a look at farming by hatching baby chicks and visiting pig and dairy farms. Other field trips included the American Royal, Swope Park, and a visit to Shawnee Mission East. One of the most interesting activities, however, was a program in which students adopted a young tree, cared for it, and watched it grow throughout the year.

LOWER SCHOOL OVERVIEW

For the Lower School, 1987-88 was an important one for cultural awareness. Throughout the year, the third through six grades lived up to their always exciting and unpredictable reputation while developing their knowledge of the people in their community and the world around them. Field trips and guest speakers in conjunction with their studies made the year even more interesting. Another highlight was October's Spirit Week which focused on positive self attitudes toward the school and community. The pancake breakfast and other fundraisers during the week were just a few examples of how this year's Lower School had a good time while helping and learning about their community and the world around them.

Third Grade

This year the third grade studied many new and interesting subjects such as Eskimos, Indians, China, and Australia. At the same time they improved their reading and math skills. They went on many field trips including the Nelson Art Gallery and other various museums to see exhibits on what they were studying. While they were studying Indians, some students from Haskell College in Lawrence came to talk to the class. While studying the Chinese, they made their annual lunch visit to a Chinese restaurant.

The class also displayed many talents. They did skits from legends and stories they had read, and did "Johnny B. Goode" for the lip sync contest during Spirit week. Mrs. Burns, their teacher, commented, "This year challenged the class, but they learned a lot while having fun."

Weird, different, exciting, and most of all fun are the adjectives most fourth graders used to describe their year. Highlights included Spirit Week with its balloon launch of over two hundred balloons and a field trip to watch an Alvin Ailey production. The class completed many academic projects including a shoe box diorama of the Trumpeter and the Swan and an in depth rat experiment in science class. Despite their increased amount of homework, most of the class of 1996 will agree with Ethan Wolferman, "This year has been a lot of fun and I can't wait until next year!"

Sometimes you have to wonder, with eight recesses a week and gym everyday, where does the fifth grade get its energy? This class has done everything from spending a week in the wilderness at Wildwood in order to learn about the outdoors, to a day at Exchange City to learn about the "real" world and the free enterprise system.

The fifth grade continued their activities in their academics. In conjunction with studying Canada and Latin America in social studies, the class had a field trip to the Switzer School. In the area of English, the fifth grade worked on developing paragraphs. They also tackled literary works such as Island of the Blue Dolphins and My Brother Sam is Dead, which the class performed as a play. That's not all, though, the class also learned about decimals in math, along with classes in science, French, art, and music.

One would think that with all of this work the fifth grade would be pretty busy. Don't worry, they still had fun this year and are very much looking forward to next year, when they will be the new leaders of the Lower School.

The class of 1994 excelled in leadership by accomplishing many new and exciting things this year. To begin with, a new five month program, which involved studying the current events of various European countries, was introduced. They also put on plays and created artwork resembling that of the culture they were studying. The teachers think the program was very successful and fun for everyone. As Leigh Deckert put it, "I really had a lot of fun learning about Italy and the other countries."

The leaders of the Lower School also participated in the Science Fair. Each student was to produce a project, write a paper, and conduct an experiment. Emily Loeb, an enthusiastic scientist, commented "I think the Science Fair was a lot of fun and everyone enjoyed themselves."

Aside from the sixth grade's academic endeavors, there were other aspects to their life, such as student government and entertaining parties. Anthony Faulkner spoke for the class by saying, "we had fun but are also really excited about next year on the Ward Parkway Campus."

SPIRIT WEEK

The last week in October, when students on the Ward Parkway Campus are saying good-bye to good weather and getting the winter blahs, the students on the Wornal Campus are just beginning to celebrate. With the goal of creating a positive attitude within the students about themselves and the school, this year's Spirit Week was a huge success.

Long before the week arrived, students began to prepare by creating portrait banners of themselves which were hung in the lunchroom during the week. They also made spirited buttons which were worn throughout the festivities. The anxiously anticipated week was kicked-off with a parent-student pancake breakfast. With proceeds going to the Children's Place, the breakfast was once again a fun way to help out people in the community. Throughout the week, students attended assemblies which focused on community and self-awareness. One of the favorites was Lower School Principal Barry White's slide show composed of candid photos of the students. Another highlight of the week was the lip-sync contest in which students performed their favorite songs. Jacob Baty, lead singer for the California Raisins, said, "I liked everything about Spirit Week, but the lip-sync contest was my favorite!" At the end of the week, the Lowers Schoolers, dressed in red and blue, paraded out to the hockey field with their Primary School partners decked out in their Halloween best for a balloon launch. The launch, which included over five hundred balloons, had cards to be returned to the school inside of them. It was a fun finale to a great week. This year's chairman Stephanie Duboc commented, "I think this year's Spirit Week was successful in that it raised school spirit and made students aware of their own self-worth. The week is a fun way to have fun while helping people in our community."

This year's primary school music classes were filled with excitement as they developed new skills. Kindergarten through second graders excelled not only in singing, but also in learning rhythm skills and how to play various instruments.

As well as classroom work, the students also put on several performances. The fall production was a great success and was enjoyed by all who attended. The spring performance was also extremely successful. Besides full chorus numbers, some students played instruments and others sang solos.

Once again, Lower School Choral students strived for excellence. Under the direction of Robyn Hartfield, the fourth through sixth grades performed in the Fall Production and a Christmas sing-along with the Primary School during Revels. The Spring Production also reflected hard work by both students and teachers.

In addition to regular class, a special sixth grade chorus practiced and performed. The extra practice not only helped to prepare students for Middle School Choral, but also proved to be much fun. Sixth-grader Peter Katz exclaimed, "Choral was a lot of work at times, but the field trips were a lot of fun!"

HOLIDAY CELEBRATION

"A Holiday Celebration" is a new tradition that took place on December 18 at the Field House on Wornall Campus. This event was previously called Revels which had been a Sunset tradition for many years. However, when "A Holiday Celebration" was created, the Old English Revel was kept. This year, the Lower and Primary School students donned their holiday costumes. They enjoyed a performance by comedian David Nastar, heard a story told by Roger and Hope Hawkins, sang Christmas carols and met Santa Claus. After the festivities, the kids returned to their classes, where they played games and had refreshments. Lower School Principal Barry White commented, "I think it contained the best of both worlds."

Lower School P.E. classes were not just ordinary gym classes this year. The students were given a wide range of sports to choose from as well as the chance to participate in special activities.

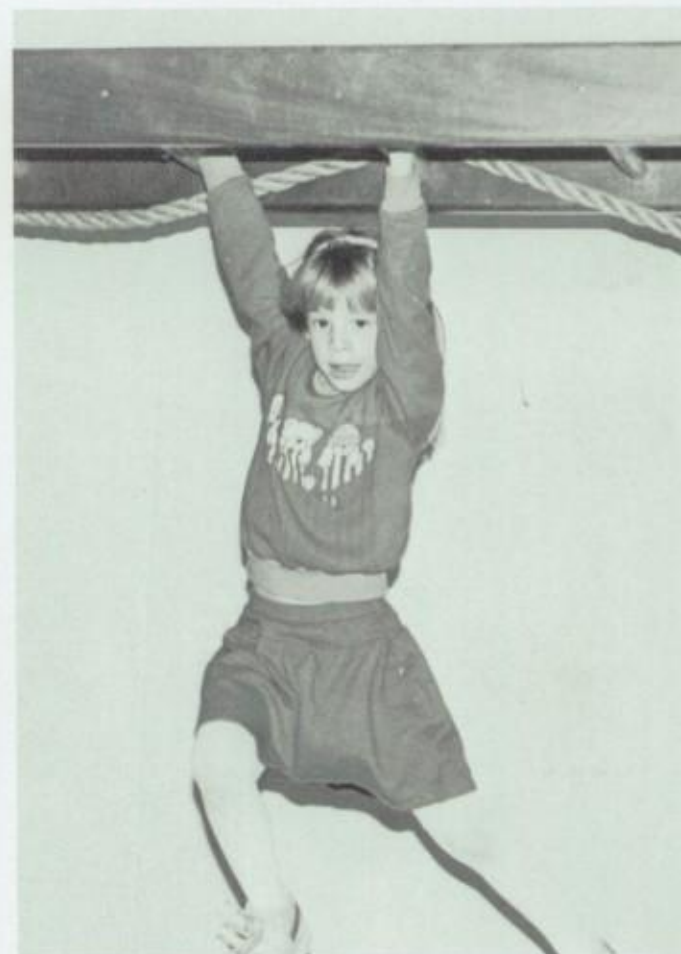

The fourth through sixth graders were able to choose from several team sports including football, basketball, softball, field hockey, and soccer. Gymnastics was also another important unit which was concluded with a special assembly for all participants to display their gymnastic skill.

But perhaps the zenith of the P.E. Curriculum was the annual May Day celebration. While the sixth graders performed the May Pole Dance, the fourth and fifth grade girls performed The Waltz of the Flowers Dance. Following May Day celebrations were the field day events. Sixth Grader Maren Dunn added excitedly, "All the field events were lots of fun. May Day was terrific."

The students also enjoyed many exciting activities the entire week leading up to Halloween. All the special events left everyone in high spirits for All Hallows' Eve.

PS STUDENT GOVT.

This year's Primary School Student Council, headed by Pat Munro, worked hard to learn the mechanism of student government. As a part of their preparation, they met once every two weeks and discussed many different aspects of their school life.

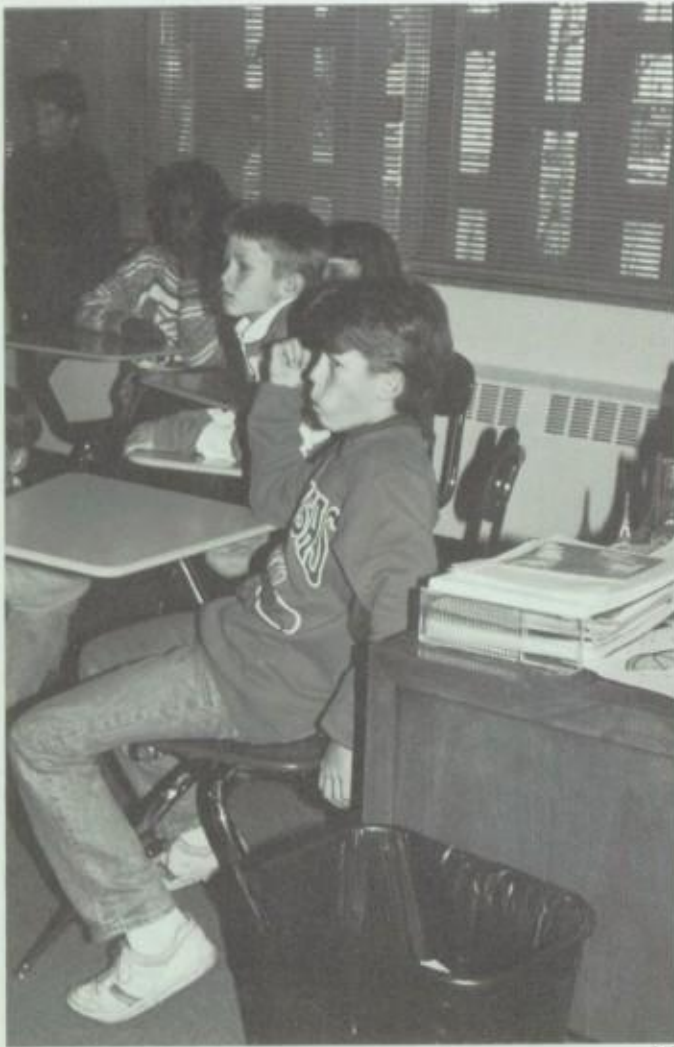

The representatives were elected bi-annually so more could have the opportunity to learn the ways of students governing students. Although the jobs presented to the Student Council ranged from fund raising for Unicef and the United Way to organizing a Read-a-Thon for M.S., whatever the task was, it was accomplished with great success.

This was the first year that the council was elected in an all school election.

As of this year, the Lower School Student Council joined the National Association of Student Councils of America. They made a "constitution" by which the council functioned, including guidelines on officers elections and a handbook. The idea of an annual fund raiser was also established. This year, the council raised an amazing $500 for UNICEF and another $150 for United Fund in one month! Mrs. JoAnn Ulrich, the council's coordinator commented, "Student Council is one of the best opportunities for leadership training these kids can get." It is obvious that the Lower Schoolers received leadership training that will serve them well in their upcoming years at Pembroke Hill and beyond.

WORNALL CAMPUS FEATURE

The main focus of Primary school education was on social and mental development. Pre-schoolers were taught to be caring, concerned individuals. Pre-Kindergarten continued this process and also encouraged the children to think for themselves. In Kindergarten, self-esteem and responsibility were added to the program. All of the classes were designed with young children's learning capabilities in mind, stressing active participation in various classroom activities, as well as cultivating important listening skills.

All of the grade levels took a number of field trips related to the specific subjects that they were studying. A visit to Children's Mercy Hospital coincided with the Kindergartners unit on newborn children. Many of the students had new brothers and sisters, and the unit was designed specifically to help them adjust to such changes in their lives. Pre-Kindergartners spent time learning about their senses, visiting related areas such as the Nelson Art Gallery and The Lobster Pot. The Kindergartners were made more aware of the community that they live in, learning about its different aspects through visits to several areas, including a construction site, a fire station, a hospital, and a pet store.

These grades provide the students with valuable learning skills that will help them in the many school years ahead. They have taken the first step on the road to higher education.

STATE LINE CAMPUS

In September, a new press box was donated in the name of Mike Selbert. During October, U2 mania overwhelmed the student body. November was a month for sports as football, soccer, and girls' tennis placed well in their respective State tournaments. December: a time to rest.

January . . . a new year . . . student journalists lost their First Amendment rights, while everyone else loosened up for Jan-term. The February doldrums were enlivened by wrestlers' success and middle school Starscape. For March, Hazard Lectures interested students as they waited for THE MUSIC MAN and spring break.

The sweet spring air called college news back to seniors in April. In May, seniors slid down; juniors took over.

June: graduation.

This year the class of 1993 experienced their first year on the Ward Parkway Campus. Although they were the underclassmen of the Middle School, most seventh graders feel like they had more freedom than they had been given in Lower School. One new activity in which the students could participate was organized athletics. The girls enjoyed basketball and field hockey, while the boys were busy with football and wrestling. "Football was a blast! Even though we didn't win our games, it was a great experience to be on the team," exclaimed Peter Hunt.

The history classes studied the founding of our country and American government. In the science department, students learned about life science and took a trip to the University of Kansas. The seventh graders also went to Gage Farm for outdoor school. However, all of this excitement still left seventh grader Eliot Arnold looking forward to next year, "Seventh grade was great, but eighth grade is going to be really great!" There is no doubt that this class is looking onward and upward.

The class of 1992 showed much athletic and academic excellence. They displayed willingness and curiosity, and they proved they were not afraid to take risks. With these things working for them, the eighth grade class had a very successful year.

Both girls and boys participated in many athletic activities including: football, field hockey, and cheerleading. The football team finished their season with a record of three and three. Zach Wolard commented, "I feel our team worked really hard this year, and someday we'll be awesome!"

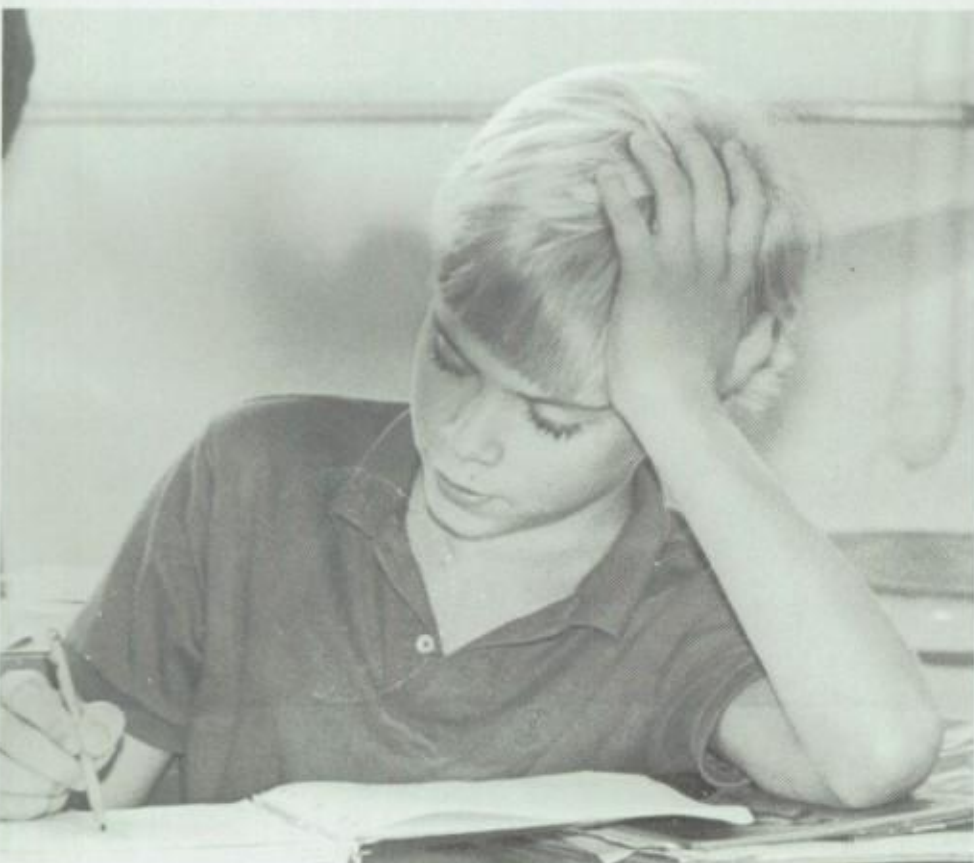

The eighth grade girls demonstrated great athletic ability this year in field hockey by defeating Pembroke Hill's rival, Barstow, numerous times. Several of the girls also showed school spirit by devoting their time and energy to cheerleading. "I think cheerleading now will be a tremendous help if we decide to participate in cheerleading in the future," stated Kate Uhlmann.

The eighth graders showed terrific leadership with their involvement in the student council. This class set an example for upcoming eighth graders. A member of the Middle School faculty commented, "The class of 1992 may be one of the best classes to graduate from the Pembroke Hill School."

The Freshman class has achieved many goals during the past year. They have come together as one class. One way they did this was through sales such as their popcorn sale which raised money for their class fund. Another great achievement was that the class had many players on varsity sports. They have been accepted socially and academically in Upper School.

The school motto, "Freedom with Responsibility" perfectly describes the Class of 1991 and their first high school year. Although the class had more responsibilities than in past years, most ninth graders felt like they received more freedom.

Anya Uhlmann commented, "Although we had a lot more work, I really enjoyed being involved in extracurricular activities, especially layout staff and S.A.D.D."

All in all, the Freshman class had a great year. The class secretary, John Towner, said, "Our class matured a lot this year. We have a great outlook for the future."

The Class of 1989 boasts many unique strengths, the most important being the unity they achieved throughout the year. The officers of the Junior class worked hard to boost the morale and create a togetherness within the class by having numerous class parties. The class also worked together and continued the selling of Coke and candy in the Commons Room.

Not only did the Juniors become more involved in their class, but also with other classes and the school community as well. Many Juniors participated and excelled in varsity and junior varsity sports. Along with their involvement in sports, the Juniors familiarized themselves with the boards and publications which they will be taking over next year.

Academically, the Juniors faced their toughest year. Despite the vigorous schedules that the Junior year entails, the class still had an abundance of people on the Honor Roll. The strengths displayed by the Junior class and their developing unity promise good leadership for the future.

MS DRAMA

Middle school drama students once again proved themselves to be hard working, aspiring, young actors and actresses. As well as participating in either a script or improvisation class, the middle schoolers challenged upper school thespians to a Comedy Sports improvisation competition. But perhaps the highlight of the Drama Club's year was their production of "Adrift In New York." Gina Braun, Jamie Copaken, and Brent Jackson played the main characters in the dinner theater melodrama.

Many people, when asked what the Drama Club is, respond with "They're the people who audition for the plays." While this is true, it is by no means the only thing they do. The Club had two main goals for this, to give its members more experience in all aspects of theatre and also to increase awareness in the student body.

Although the Drama Club receives publicity through the school plays, it is a fairly new club and so it strived to increase its membership. During the fall the club held a haunted house in Curry Theatre for Lower School children, which really helped publicity and also acted as a fundraiser. In addition, a newsletter was also started.

For the first time, the Club was big enough to sponsor activities. The first was a retreat to Deer Creek, a camp in the Ozarks. The weekend gave the club members a chance to become better friends and bolster group spirit. Then the club held a lock-in at Curry Theater for the same reasons.

Perhaps the most memorable event for the Drama Club was the International Thespian Society Festival held in Muncy, Indiana. It was there that people interested in theater gathered from around the world and performed plays and conducted workshops. It was a growing experience for all who attended.

FALL DRAMA

The 1987-88 fall drama production, directed by Roger Hawkins, was called "Harvey." The plot was about a man named Elwood P. Dodds, played by junior Brian Thalblum, who supposedly saw an invisible rabbit named Harvey. The other two leads, a niece and a sister, were played by Sarah Fain and Miriam Watson, respectively. The sister tried to get her brother committed to an insane asylum, but her plan backfired and she ended up being committed. Tony Beasley, who played a crazy orderly, and Melanie Butcher, the head nurse, were a riot to watch in the presentation. Melanie Butcher concludes, "I really think it's the best cast we've ever had. The people worked great together. It was wonderful, and I'm really looking forward to next year!"

The 1987-88 Middle School Choir, instructed by Debra Anderson, increased their singing ability and had fun at the same time. The classes showed enthusiasm towards all of their performances but the excitement rose when it was time for Showcase '88. The choir spent an extensive amount of time preparing. Soloists were selected along with numerous ensembles from both the Seventh and Eighth Grades. Because of the choir's talent the final performances were done equally as well as the previous year, if not better.

This year the Upper School Choir carried on their tradition of fine performance with many memorable appearances. With an increase in the number of students in both the Freshman-Sophomore choir and the Junior-Senior choir, the chorus reached new heights with the successes of their shows. The choir continually drew theater-filled audiences to their performances which included BRAVOS, the Messiah, and "The Music Man."

The choir's first performance, BRAVOS, was once again outstanding. The crowd pleasing individual selections from the Freshman-Sophomore, Junior-Senior, and Madrigal choirs were topped off with a spirited full-chorus medley from the Tony Award winning musicals of the 1960's. The medley, which included songs from "Fiddler on The Roof" and "The Sound of Music," was an appropriate finale for a great show.

This year the choir performed the Messiah for the twenty-third time, and once again, it set the holiday season off to a booming start! A week later, the choir performed in the annual Christmas Program, completing the holiday spirit. The chorus performed their traditional selections of "Peace, Peace" and "The Winter Song" with the alumni, and officially began the holiday break with their finale of "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

The musical, "The Music Man," was yet another addition to the choir's list of successes. The cast displayed a variety of talent in acting, dance, and singing. Kent Fortner, who played the leading role as Harold Hill, commented, "I think the show was a big success, and we all had a lot of fun putting it together."

The Westport Golden Age Club, St. Luke's Hospital Auxiliary, and caroling on the Plaza were a few of the out of school organizations that sections of the choir performed for. The Junior-Senior choir also went on its annual trip. The trip, always a favorite, went to Minneapolis this year, and was once again very popular. Senior co-president David Dickey said, "The experience of singing before other schools was the pinnacle of the choral year. It was awesome."

The choir's final performance, the spring concert, was an entertaining combination of chorus songs, a student recital, and an honoring of the seniors. The success of the program was an appropriate ending to what had been an exceptional year for upper school music. Choir director John Lovstad said, "The spring concert was no exception to the variety of talent that I have seen this year. It was a nice conclusion to what has been a great year."

The Music Man. A musical that is known worldwide. Mention it to almost anyone and they are sure to have a favorite character or song. This year senior Kent Fortner took on the role of Harold Hill, a fast talking hustler who tricks the whole town of River City into buying band instruments, books, and uniforms. In exchange, Hill is to lead the River City boys band. While the whole town is mesmerized by Hill's talk of pool tables and devils, the town music teacher/librarian, Marian, played by junior Holly Shaw, is doubtful. She investigates Hill's background and finds him to be a fraud but Hill has wound his magic on her and she tells no one. Hill, however, finds himself in love with Marian and when the hustle is complete he cannot bring himself to run off with the money. The story ends happily as the boys somehow learn their instruments and Hill does end up leading the band.

Other leading roles were played by Marc Buehler (mayor Shinn), Jolyan Herman (Mrs. Shinn), Tony Beasley (Marcellus), Brian Thalblum, Kat Wood, Bar Helzberg, Frazier Miller, Graham Wallace, Matt Frisbee, Miriam Watson, and lower schooler Brian Cates.

The 1987-'88 Garret reached astounding heights, with great leadership by Jolyan Herman and co-editor Kelly Souders. "Our goals were to improve student participation, gain more recognition, and in general, just to make it the best." Their magazine, released in March, contained many pictures, poems, short stories, and artwork by members of the student body. Their work reflected all of their earlier goals, and in addition, took on a new shape. All of the qualities achieved, assisted in making the Garret a great success this year.

Under the leadership of co-editors Illah Nourbakhsh and Ramon Espejo-Saavedra, with sponsor Bob Del-Greco, the Scholar reached new heights this year. The Scholar was successful in producing a spring edition in which a variety of papers appeared ranging from critical thinking essays to science research papers. Interesting artwork from the fine arts department was included as well.

Del Greco commented on the role of the Scholar in the school community saying, "The Scholar gives students a chance to show their best work and to see other students' works." Co-editor Nourbakhsh added, "It is a high quality academic work reflecting the abilities and interests of the student body."

This year the Pinnacle did this. We took the pictures, wrote the copy, and laid-out the pages; all of them. And we sold the ads to pay for it. You can see it all right here, so judge the book yourself.

Then, look at this list of editors whose work was the main factor in putting this book together: Emily Rheinfrank and David Dickey, Editors-in-Chief; Mark Holthoff, Managing; Doug Kassebaum, Copy; Peter Figge, Layout; Andrea Higgins, Photography, and Andy Bash, Ad Manager.

Other people who helped alot, but who do not have such impressive titles, are John Hendren, Assistant Copy Editor, Lisa Kiene, Assistant Photo Editor, Joan Pawsat, Assistant Layout Editor, and Robin Kitterman, Business Manager.

But by far the two people who helped out the most were our advisor, Ellen Glenn, and our publisher, Jim Reed, whom we consider to be immortal.

And, of course, we did not forget Bar Helzberg, Captions Editor, whose dedication and generosity we will never forget.

MS NEWSPAPER

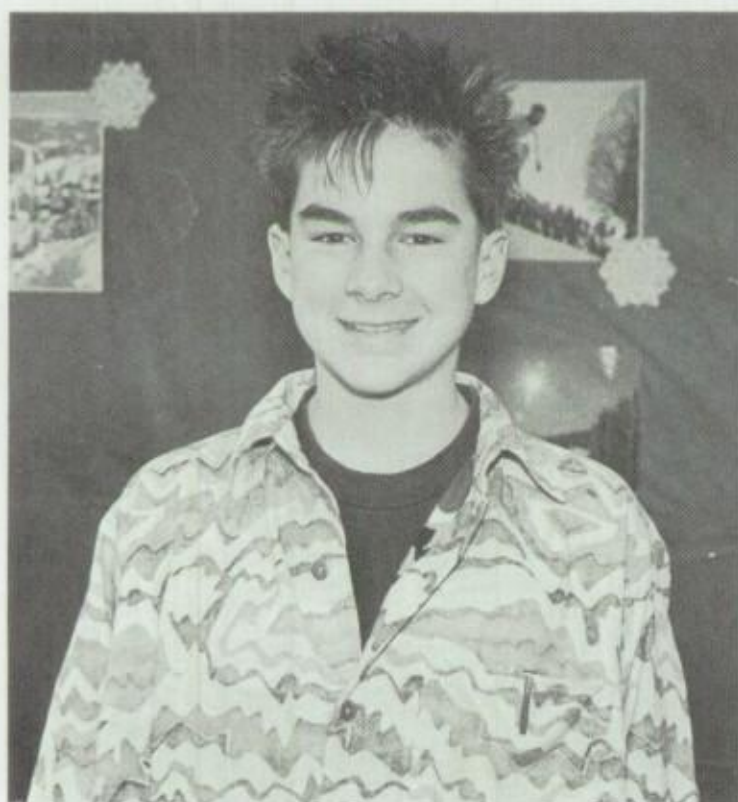

Four times a year the Middle School students produce an outstanding newspaper, The Echo. Not only are the articles well written and concise, they are entertaining and offer a good variety. Everything from news and sports to automotive and movies is in The Echo.

Although the staff of twenty would like to print seventeen pages, the paper is only four to six pages each issue. "The budget just doesn't allow that many pages," says faculty advisor Carol Flynn. With that allowance of six pages, only the cream of the crop makes it to the presses, which makes The Echo a very impressive paper.

In an age in which modern society has lost its diversity and individuality, characterized by shopping malls, fast food, and USA today, students at Pembroke Hill can find a refreshing change when, twelve times a year, they pick up and read a copy of The Voice, one of the finest high school newspapers in the United States.

The journalists for The Voice reported the news and sports succinctly and with alacrity. Beyond the pages of news and sports were the editorial and feature pages, where young writers tackled controversial topics such as education, feminism, and pornography. Other interesting topics that were investigated included U2 mania, delicatessens of Kansas City, and Voice interviews.

All of these accomplishments came under the unprecedented and influential leadership of senior editors Jim McMullen, Frazier Miller, Liz Kelsey, Ellen McLarney, Marc Buehler, and Greg Wolf. Again this year, English teacher Art Atkison served as faculty advisor to The Voice, guiding the staff to develop their writing skills and journalistic integrity.

MS STUDENT GOVT.

The 1987-88 Middle School Student Council had fun and accomplished a lot this year. President David Spatz, vice-president Andy Moore, secretary Kathryn Jermann, and treasurer Julie Johnson showed leadership and organization to the other council members.

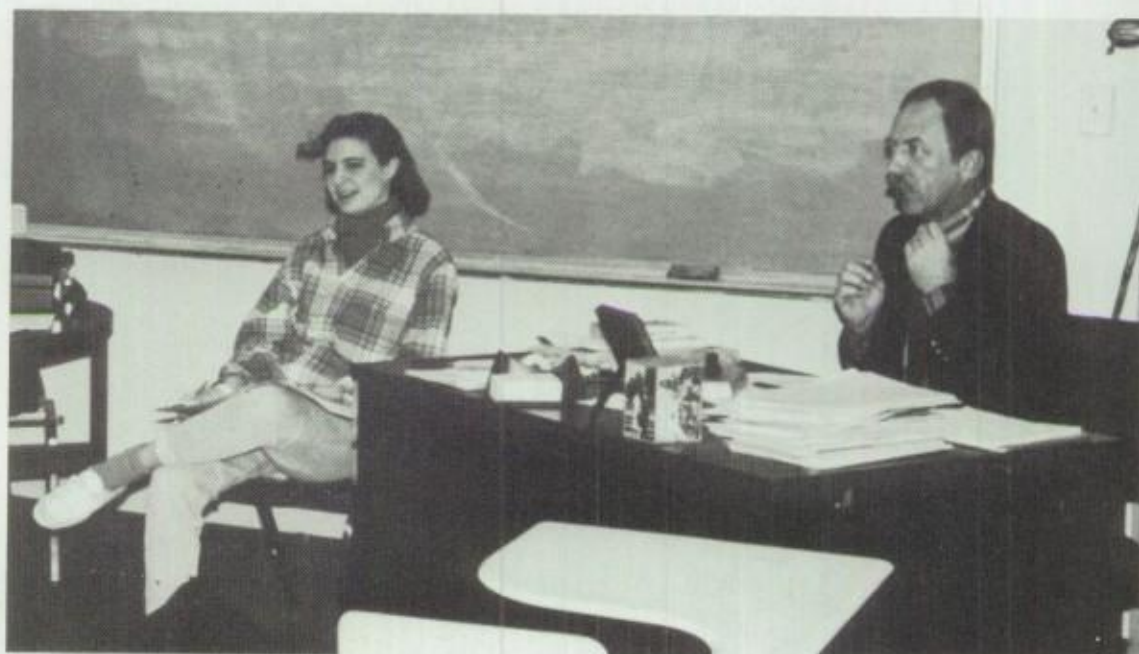

Throughout the year, the council not only continued previous activities such as selling doughnuts and having parties, but also came up with many new ideas. To begin with, they organized two tacky days. During these days, the students dressed as tacky as possible for school.

The main achievement of the student council this year was a toy drive. The council collected toys and sent them to a shelter for battered mothers and their children. Andy Moore summed up, "I think the toy drive was really successful."

US STUDENT GOVT.

"My first objective was to make it better than it was", commented Student Government president Greg Wolf. Greg stressed that the students should take an active part in the Pembroke Hill Government. One way of increasing student involvement was the "college panel." This panel consisted of former students currently attending college who returned to share their experiences. The "college panel" proved extremely successful this year. The information offered to the prospective college attendees provided a variety of facts about college and college life.

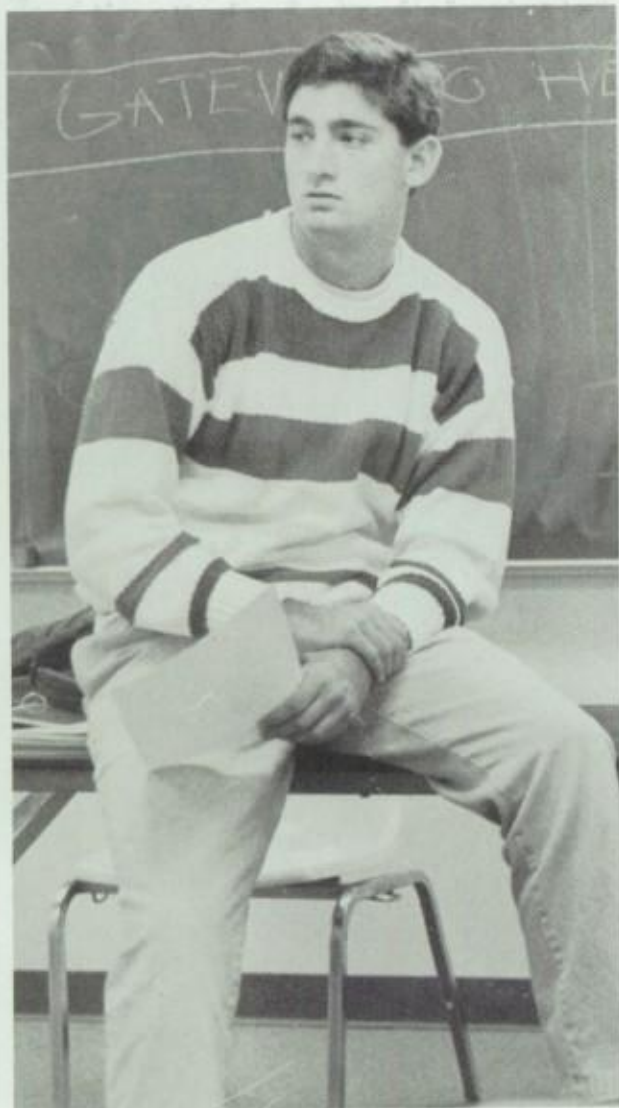

During this year, the Student Government also held two student exchanges and a blood drive to help the community. The first student exchange was with North Kansas City High School and the second was with John Burroughs School in St. Louis. In each case, the students selected from our school had the opportunity to attend another school and discover how that school differed from Pembroke Hill.

The Student Government had an extremely successful year. Greg Wolf should be commended for the leadership he provided and the many positive achievements the Student Government contributed to our school through out the year.

The Debate Team came a long way this year. Last year they only had three members, but this year fifteen students went out for debate. Coach Carl Graves called it a real "turning point." "We had more students than ever this year." The Pembroke Hill debaters participated in five different types of speech: Lincoln Douglas, Original Oratory, Extemporaneous Speaking, Humorous and Dramatic Interpretation, and Duet. Illah Nourbakhsh led the year in wins, bringing home most first place trophies.

There are two types, the Novice and the Experienced. The Novice are the beginners and the Experienced are the more advanced debaters. The debates took place at various schools throughout the year. "The kids worked hard and I was very impressed with their dedication," commented Sue Kraegel. "The debate team has grown immensely this year and I hope that more students will become interested in the years to come."

LIBERALS

This year Pembroke Hill witnessed the formation of the Liberals Club. Seniors Anne Voigts and Chimene Schwach founded the club with faculty advisor, Art Atkison. Since the liberals became an official club, they strived to be one of the most active ones on campus.

"We started the Club to help encourage active participation in current issues, be they political or social, with a liberal perspective," commented Voigts. On January 30, the members picketed for Pro-Choice on the issue of abortion. "Our actions reflect our view on the issues. We are a small but serious club," said Schwach.

Liberal Anne Voigts senses the mental cries of a dying planet.

As described by president Thad Withers, the newly established Conservative Club's goals are "not necessarily to convert anybody to conservatism, but to help make students aware of the conservative doctrines." Withers and Junior Don Trigg wished to create the Club as a spin-off of the infamous Men of the Idle Rich Class, MIRC. Unlike the members of MIRC, Withers and Trigg created a club with meaning.

The Club sponsored Mayor Berkley's speech and organized a mock debate with their opposition, the Liberals. In support of the Republican Presidential Candidate Bob Dole, they handed out bumper stickers.

Withers stated, "We do not want to stick wealth in anybody's face, we just want them to have the opportunity to learn."

The Students Against Drunk Driving organization (S.A.D.D.) is a group of students led by President Matt Earnest who set out to prevent persons from driving drunk and to help the community in related ways. Early in the year many dedicated S.A.D.D. participants woke up earlier than usual and headed over to the Wornall campus to help blow up balloons for Lower School "Spirit Week." S.A.D.D. member Janet Johnson said, "It was very fun, but I hated it when the balloons would hit the lights and pop." But probably the event that S.A.D.D. is recognized most for is the sophomore chauffeur program for Prom. Jenny Atterbury, the sophomore representative commented, "I think the sophomores enjoy feeling involved in Prom activities, plus I think they could be helping someone out." The realistic threats of drunk drivers are presented in sophomore Kat Wood's thoughts, "In this day and age I think that drunk drivers present a really scary problem. I think it's neat that a group of students can play an active role in trying to prevent people from driving drunk."

CROSS-COUNTRY SKIING

Snowflakes. Snow storms. Huge, raging blizzards accompanied by bitter cold and fierce wind. All of these natural events are relished by cross country skiers. Blazing through the snow in their third year, the cross country ski team was as active and covert as ever. Sixteen different trips to all locales of the world highlighted the season. This year's particular favorite was the trek to the Himilayas which, as veteran cross countrier Kent Fortner described, "was better than L.A." Advisor Ellen Glenn commented, "This year's training was extremely strenuous, especially the required marathon. However, it was well worth the pain of training once we looked out over the vastness of the land and were able to revel in our accomplishments."

OUTDOOR CLUB

For its second year now, the Outdoor Club has been organizing field trips to bring the students more in touch with the environment around them. This year the club, under the leadership of president Jonathan Phillips, went on a variety of excursions. They took many biking trips around the Kansas City area. Most of the trips began in area parks. In the middle of the year the club had a successful fruit sale to raise money. In the second semester, the club took a trip down to the Lake of the Ozarks. During their stay, the club visited many national parks. The purpose of the trip was not only to have a good time, but also to organize and plan future trips. Peter Sotta commented, "Although we didn't get to take all of the trips that we had planned on, this was an important year of building and learning for years to come."

ALLIANCE

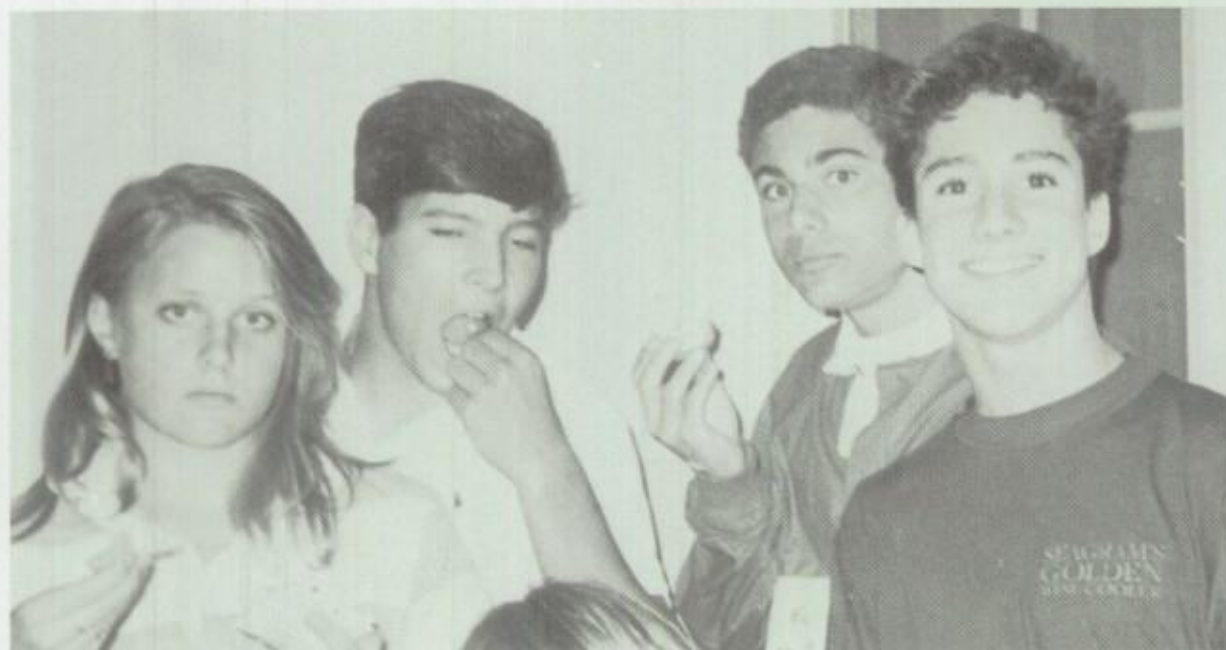

The 1987-88 Alliance Club headed by Junior Co-presidents Tony Beasley and Bush Helzberg sparked much enthusiasm from Pembroke Hill's high school student body. Each class participated by electing at least one representative.

This year the Club experienced activities that weren't just French related. They showed interest in the Irish, English, and Chinese cultures. They did this by preparing food from these countries and viewing movies about or from the area. Junior Susan Scruggs' Chinese characters also added much entertainment to the Alliance Club. Tony Beasley summed up the year by saying, "The expansion of cultures was a great learning experience and a lot of fun. I hope to make it a tradition."

LATIN CLUB

Once again, the Latin Club had a strong year. Along with regular meetings, the Latin Club also had a road trip and a Roman style banquet. A major change this year was the admission of not only Latin students but also former Latin Club members.

The Roman banquet, which took place in Hall Student Center one evening, included an authentic (as possible) Roman meal. The Club members also wore Roman dress, in the form of togas. The students also performed skits in Latin.

The highlight of the year was the road trip to Fulton, Missouri. Every year Latin students from across the state of Missouri gather for the Junior Classical League Convention. The kids took tests and attended lectures on Roman culture. In addition the students missed a whole day of school.

Social Service started out their year with the annual sponsor-a-goal. The students sponsor a team and for each goal they make they give a certain amount of money. The student response was great and they raised $550.

Snoopy's Pumpkin Patch was a big success. Many Upper Schoolers volunteered their time by unloading and decorating the pumpkins for needy children. In the Halloween spirit, Social Service held a dance that was very well attended and raised a lot of money.

Then in November the Social Service sponsored the Thanksgiving Assembly and Phone-a-thon. Over 3000 pounds of food and $600 were the result of this fundraiser. The assembly included a skit performed by Alliance Francais, and dance routines by Senior Elizabeth Broyles and Maura Neighbor.

During Christmas, Social Service sponsor a family. They helped the family by giving them food and money.

President Stacie Porto summed up the year, "We've been happy with the money we've raised this year. I feel that it was very successful. We had a lot of student support, and that was what made it so worthwhile."

"Meere and Moncho were two of the best possible foreign students we could have had. They and the people who have wanted to work have made working for AFS worthwhile," commented president Jennie Gusewelle.

Meere Lemmer, from Bloemfontien, South Africa, had a good time in America. She traveled to New York and Arizona, and she met many interesting people. Meere played tennis for Pembroke Hill and went to the state finals.

Moncho De Pablo, from Madrid, Spain, played soccer at Pembroke Hill and has also enjoyed the States.

Fourteen people from Pembroke Hill went on the AFS summer abroad program. They travelled to such countries as Turkey, Malasia, and Uruguay.

Fundraisers included: candy pumpkin-gram sales for Halloween, a candy cane sale at Christmas, a 50's party, and Casino night. Most earned 100% profit because the merchandise was donated.

To a group of middle schoolers, Physical Education happens to be one of the most exciting times of the day. One happy middle schooler stated "It's fun! It's the only class where we don't have any homework."

The students played a large variety of sports. A few favorites included field hockey, basketball, soccer, and racquetball.

Their instructors taught them how to improve on the games they played as well as good sportsmanship and new games.

Overall, the program was said to be successful and very worthwhile for the students of the middle school.

"Good Morning America!" exclaimed the students of the Pembroke Hill School on February 8th. They appeared on the ABC Network morning show "Good Morning America". This was just one of the many exciting activities the middle school has participated in this past year.

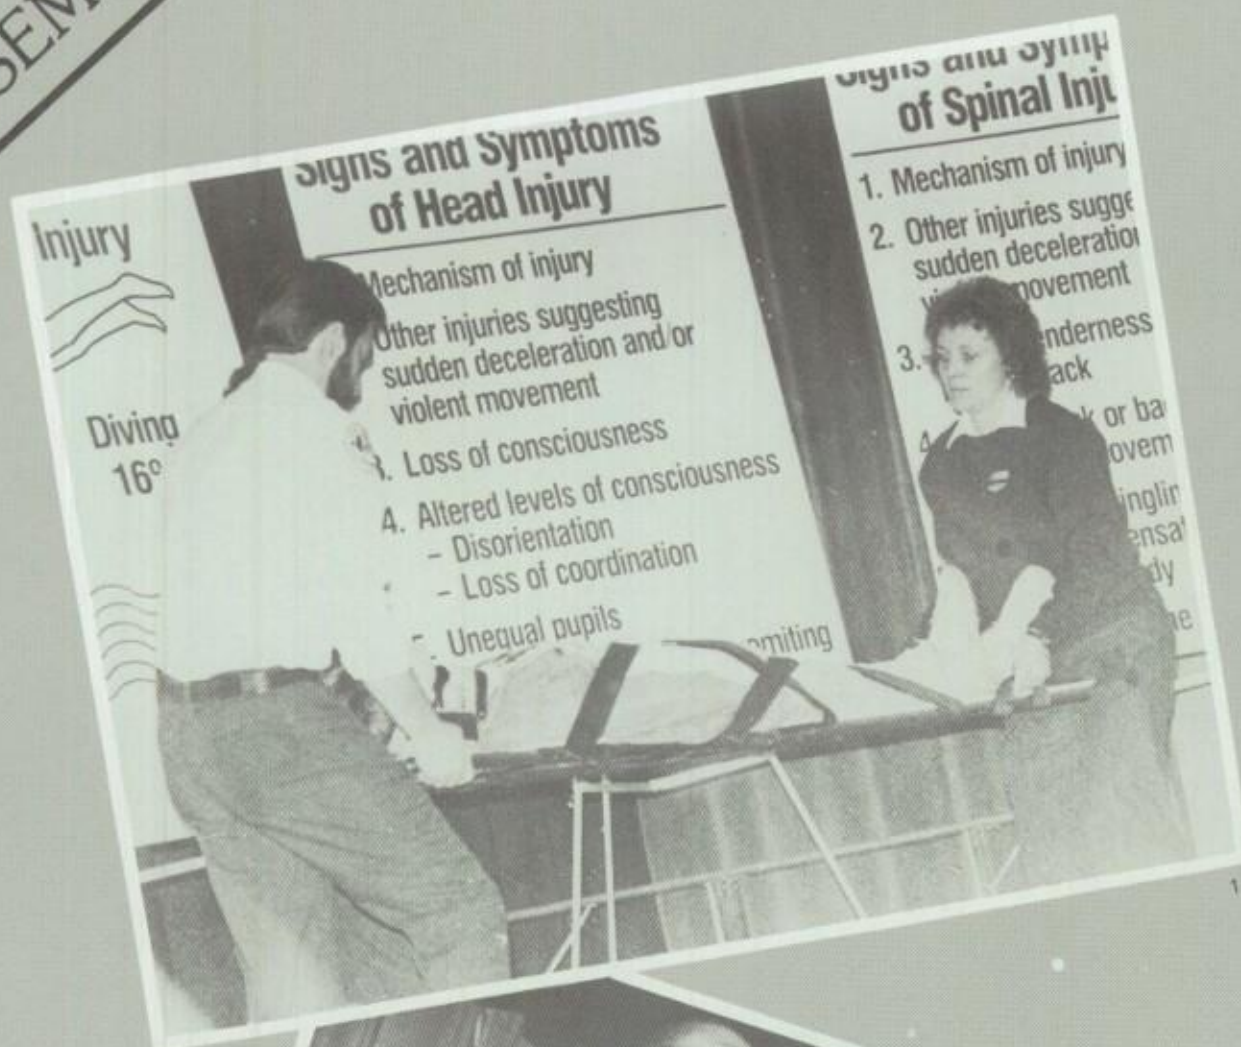

Middle School showed school spirit during Middle School night at the football game against Butler. They made a big paper banner for the players to run through as they ran on to the field. This was followed by a pizza & coke party, where they watched video clips of things that Mr. Woods had taped earlier in the year. Middle School also had a night at a varsity basketball game on January 22. At the game they had a "Hot Shot" shooting contest. This was also followed by a pizza & coke party.

The Middle School students had an educational experience at outdoor school. They also went to KU's Science Museum. Like the Upper School, they had their own pep rally. The Middle School and Varsity cheerleaders attended, but the highlight was when the faculty cheerleaders were unveiled; Mrs. Tostevin, Mrs. Flynn, Mrs. Dowling, and Madame O'Sullivan. "The pep assembly was a great afternoon of fun and cheer. The show stopper was the faculty cheerleaders, they really had the place rockin'!" said Mr. Woods, who organized the whole thing.

This past year the parents were very involved, but more importantly, so were the students.

This year the Pembroke Hill students and teachers were presented by a variety of interesting speakers and performers. The Citizenship Assembly in September started the year off honoring the birthday of our nation's Constitution. Also in September, the Reverend Daniel Heischman of The Council of Religion spoke about values in our student body. In November, the students were presented a plethora of exciting assemblies. The Peer Helpers and SADD brought a group of students to speak about Alateen and Alcoholics Anonymous. Then a group from Med-Act came to speak about spine and neck injuries in a presentation entitled "Heads Up". Next, Student Government tickled our funny bones when comedian David Naster entertained us all. Finally, Social Service sponsored a Thanksgiving Assembly to raise food for the hungry. Other assemblies before Christmas included an assembly on AIDS and a play presented by Kelly Souders.

Second semester focused mainly on the Hazard Lectures. These dealt with the 1988 political campaign. Other presentations included the speech contest and choral performances by the Blake School and Heritage Hall. Junior Mindy Schultz commented, "The caliber of this year's assemblies was much higher than last, and I believe they were enjoyed by all."

The homecoming weekend was a very traditional and exciting event this year. The first excitement came when the Raider football team took on the Hogan Rams in what turned out to be a 21 to 14 victory for the Raiders. During halftime, the Homecoming King and Queen were announced. Of the ten candidates, Kelly Evans was crowned Queen and Brad Dixon was King. They took a lap and then Kelly returned to cheerleading and Brad returned to playing football. Stephen Figge commented "The evening was really exciting and it was great to see the Raiders win our Homecoming game."

The next evening was the Homecoming Dance held on the State Line Campus. The entertainment that night was provided by the band "Suite 151." The evening turned out well and everyone seemed to have enjoyed themselves. Senior Starr Terrell, Homecoming candidate, stated "I had a complete blast, then again with a date like Kent Fortner how can you lose?" Freshman Judy Epstein summed it all up by saying "The weekend was a lot of fun and the band was awesome!"

7/8 FATHER DAUGHTER DINNER

It was a Friday night, February the nineteenth. Almost every seventh and eighth grade girl was preparing for the date of her life. The Father-Daughter Dinner was about to begin. The girls arrived with their "dates" and enjoyed punch, before moving upstairs for a dinner by candlelight. The meal included prime rib, a potato dish, and a meatless lasagna. Following dinner came an invocation by Mr. Bird and Mr. Strub. The evening then concluded with entertainment by middle school singers, a drama presentation, as well as several speeches. Mrs. Tostevin, organizer of the night, expressed her feelings when she said, "It's a lovely evening that we look forward to each year."

Early in the week, rehearsals began, decorations were made, and invitations written. On January 29, the anxiously anticipated Father-Daughter Dinner finally arrived. The evening began with a reception in the Boocock Gallery. It was followed by a candlelight dinner of prime rib and orange chicken. After dinner of entertainment in the Hall Student Center Auditorium. Freshman Courtney Slaughter and Michelle Cooper performed a duet of "Ribbons Down My Back." They were accompanied by sophomore pianist Rachael Cole who afterwards played a selection by Beethoven. Freshman Tina Throckmorton followed with a ballet dance to the theme from "Ice Castles." The program was concluded with the humorous monologue, "The American Dream," recited by sophomore Marcelle Robertson. The evening ended with the traditional trip down to the Alameda Plaza for dancing and dessert. Freshman Judy Epstein said, "The Father-Daughter Dinner is a great chance to spend some time with your dad, and I think everyone had a really good time."

11/12 FATHER DAUGHTER DINNER

Broadway beware, because the senior fathers of Pembroke Hill may be heading your way. The dads topped off the annual Junior-Senior Father Daughter Dinner with their own hilarious version of "Sixty Minutes", revealing a whole new source of untapped talent. Catcalls and shrieks of unbridled excitement filled the theater as the curtains opened, soon followed by laughter as the fathers humorously incorporated the daughter's unique habits and attitudes into their various news reports. They covered everything from the infamous Ginger Blue canoe trips to the thoughts of the football team, accompanied by the melodious voices of a group of fathers directed by John Lovstad. The laughter quieted as the fathers lined up on stage to present their daughters with roses.

Junior Kim Frazier reflected, "Each Father Daughter Dinner seems to surpass the previous one, and I think that this year's Dinner was undoubtedly the best I have ever been privileged to attend." And so ended yet another treasured tradition.

VALENTINE'S DANCE

"Kick ____," were the words senior Robbie Hicks used to describe this year's vivacious Valentine's Dance.

For the second year in a row, the ladies treated the gentlemen to culinary masterpieces followed by an unrestrained tumult of dancing.

The sounds of INXS, U2, R.E.M., and Billy Idol were belted out by Perpetual Change as hundreds of students partied the night away in the Hall Student Center. "The band definitely made up for what the dinner lacked," reflected senior Peter Figge.

All in all, the dance proved to be a catharsis for many, memorable for some, and often times thrilling for everyone in attendance. Freshman Scott Johnson expounded, "This sure beats the Middle School pizza parties!" An exuberant and usually garrulous Mark Holthoff had no comment on the evening.

The January Interterm was a very educational and exciting two weeks. This period between the semesters not only provided students with opportunities for unique classes, but it also presented a fun and relaxed atmosphere. Several students had an opportunity to travel to England for the two weeks while another group headed to Texas for a wilderness experience. Others chose to take up an independent study project. This ranged from interns at advertising agencies, study of Mayan ruins in Mexico, and the manufacturing of a harpsicord, to name just a few.

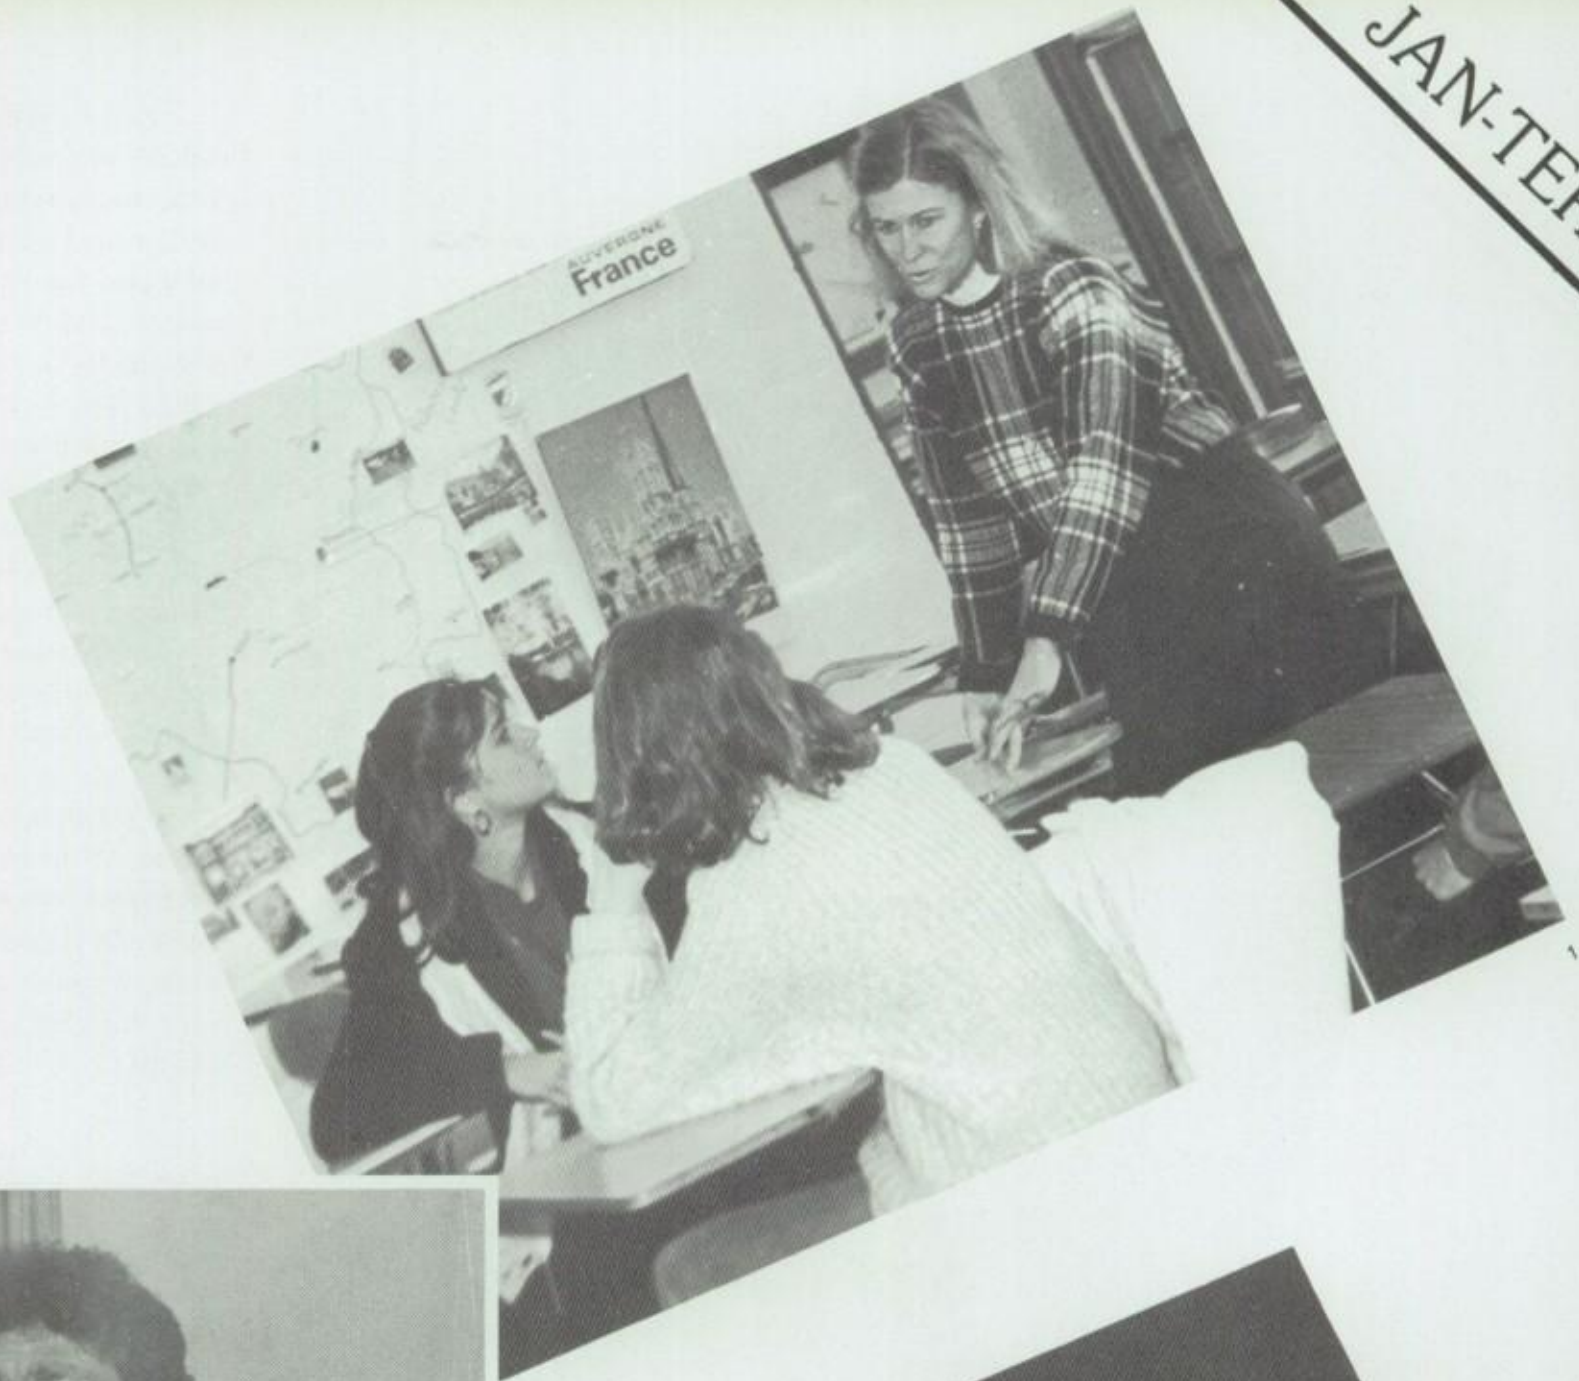

Senior Morgan Grether commented upon the England excursion, "I learned more in two weeks than I did my entire Sophomore year!"

After pondering the thought for several months, Senior Carl Van Tassel concluded, "Jan-Term was a very fun and educational. I just hope it's carried on for the underclassmen coming up through the Upper School."

Once again, Middle Schoolers enjoyed a week of fun in February during Starscape. This year's theme was communication and encouraged contact between parents and their children. Students wrote letters of appreciation to their parents, had breakfast with them, and participated in gym class together. Through these activities, lines of communication were hoped to have been opened. As one Middle School parent enthusiastically stated, "Starscape was good for everyone, students and parents. The theme of communication was a great idea."

Special student activities were also an important part of Starscape. To start off the week, Dr. Bowen White spoke to the Middle School about body language. The eighth grade took on the seventh grade in a co-ed basketball game, with the eighth graders coming out on top. Middle Schoolers also took place in a speech contest and were featured at the beginning of "Good Morning America." But perhaps the highlight of the week was playing Pictionary and having very little homework. Eighth grader Zach Wollard commented, "Starscape was a great break! We barely had any homework."

As well as these activities, school spirit and unity were stressed. Hug Day promoted good relations between teachers and students. Besides Hug Day, Red and White Day encouraged people to wear school colors and show their school spirit. "It was a lot of fun, almost like an Upper School pep rally!" exclaimed Karen Roth.

All in all, Starscape was a terrific success, for parents, students, and teachers. "Starscape was the best! Everyone got along great and school unity was greatly increased," explained Andy Atterbury.

V VOLLEYBALL

After a slow start, the Varsity Volleyball team finished the season strong, winning four of their last six games. Much of the weak beginning had to do with the fact that almost the entire team was composed of underclassmen with little experience. As the year progressed, the whole team improved and showed "a lot of potential", commented Captain Stacie Porto. Coach Goldsmith felt that this was a "learning and rebuilding year". His enthusiasm for the upcoming years is easy to understand considering that most of his team has two or three years to grow.

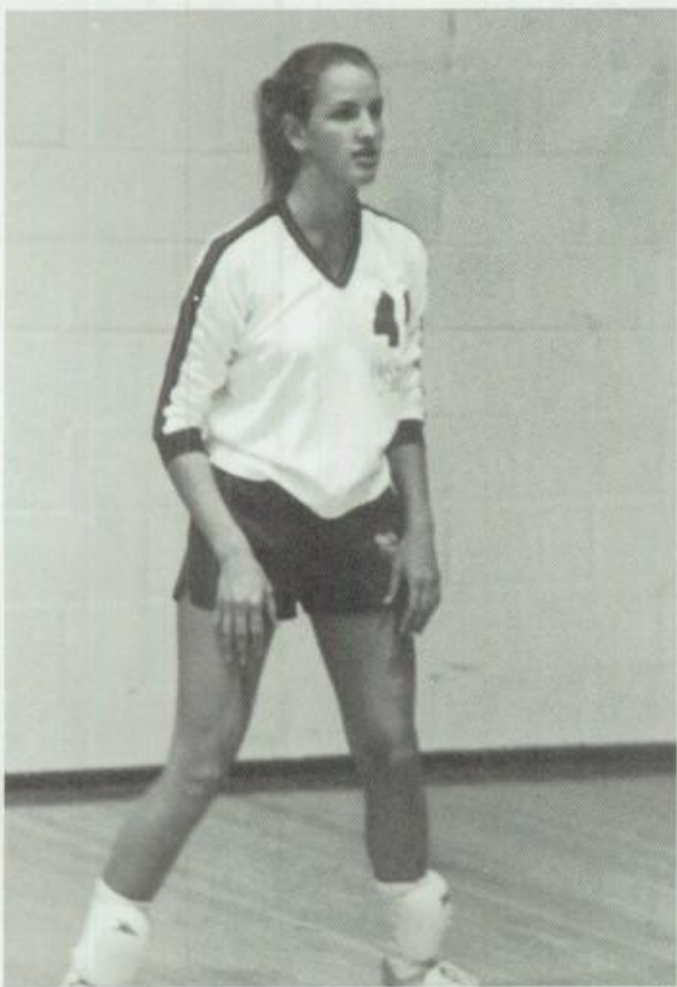

The team consisted of one senior, Captain Stacie "Spike" Porto, and one junior, Michelle Labinski, plus two sophomores and three freshmen. While all the athletes proved most capable, Stacie Porto excelled in both playing ability and leadership. "She acted as a coach on the court," commented Coach Reed Goldsmith. Although this is only his second year coaching at Pembroke Hill, he is by no means new to the sport. He played on an AAU team at Georgetown and also coached in the Peace Corps.

When asked about highlights of the year, the team agreed that two games stood out. Although both Lone Jack and Crestridge defeated the Raiders early in the season, Pembroke recovered and came back to smear them later in the season, winning both rematches 3-0, even recovering from an eight point deficit against Crestridge. These matches pointed out that, despite the slow start at the beginning of the year, the team gained mounds of experience and, with their exceptional leadership, was able to regain their honor from Pembroke Hill enemies. And when it looked like it could not get any better, Captain Spike Porto was chosen for the All-Conference Team.

The fans are on the edges of their seats for next year's experienced squad.

JV/8 VOLLEYBALL

This year, J.V. Volleyball had a tough season. Not winning very many games got them down, but with the help of their coach Bill Wilson, they learned that the score did not matter, it was just how well that they played the game.

Mr. Wilson stated that the team played well, with a lot of leadership from Sandra Wilson. "She played extremely well on the J.V. team," he said, "she lead the underclassmen players."

He also said that freshman Aarin Schorr is definitely one of the most improved players and looks promising for the future.

Varsity Freshman Rachel Loeb said, "I enjoyed watching the J.V. matches and I know in the future they will be a stronger team."

The J.V. soccer team had a difficult schedule, pitting them against such powerhouses as Rockhurst and Blue Springs. Captain Peter Hyde said, "It was mostly the experienced we were looking for. Playing more difficult teams will help improve our skills and make us better players." Although the season was not spectacular in terms of wins and losses, the many future varsity players gained the skill and experience needed for next year.

The team was massive, sporting twenty players. "Because we were so large, everyone did not get as much playing time as they hoped. However, I admired the way each player gave an all out effort when they were out on the field," said Coach Stubbs.

Don't let the record fool you. Even though the Raider C-Team started out a little shaky, the enthusiasm and urge to succeed as a team pushed the Raiders to improve. Freshman Brett Posten stated that, "Though at the beginning of the year we didn't look very good, at the end of the season we had grown a lot."

Coach Bill Scruggs thought the team hung together well. "Relative to previous seasons, the level of competition was much greater."

V SOCCER

Four to one. The score of the last game of the 1987 Raider soccer season. However, for the second straight year the game was the state finals in St. Louis.

The season began as all seasons, in the searing August heat. After two and a half weeks of practice on the lush, soft Kroh campus field, the Raiders played the alumni to a 1-1 tie.

The official season then opened with a 6-0 thrashing of O'Hara. The Raiders then went on to take second place by beating S.M. West and losing to #1 ranked Grandview 2-1.

The Raiders then took on #4 ranked and eventual Kansas State champion S.M. South, and fell 2-1. The booters then lost their third straight to Desoto on a penalty kick with 27 seconds left in regulation. It was the first time in three years that the team's record was below 500. "It was a low point," commented senior co-captain Kent Fortner, "Moral was #%$*&." The booters stayed around 500 for the remainder of the regular season. They did, however, win the Raytown South Tournament as well as beat Smith-Cotton, a team Quigley had never beaten in his career.

By the end of the regular season the Raiders were seeded second in the district behind arch-rival Barstow with an 8-8-2 record. They soundly defeated K.C. Lutheran to advance to the district finals for the third straight year.

The Raiders opponents in the finals were the O'Hara Celtics, Senior Richard Hubbard's goal six minutes into the first half was the deciding factor as both teams were shutout the remainder of the game. "Barstow was looking ahead when they played O'Hara and we had something to prove," commented Quigley. Co-captain Frazier Miller expanded on Quigley's thoughts, "O'Hara really outplayed us, but we found a way to win."

With the momentum of districts behind them the Raiders destroyed Joplin McCauley 6-1 to advance to the state semi-finals for the second straight year. "When we scored in the first minute I thought all we had to do was hold them. When we scored four more times in the first half, well . . . bitchn' Camero dude!" expounded senior Will Scruggs.

The semi-finals proved to be "the most exciting soccer game I've ever seen," as sophomore Pam Shores exclaimed. The game pitted the Raiders against Columbia Rock-Bridge. The game was a defensive battle as both teams were held scoreless during regulation. Then the excitement began. Four sudden death overtimes. Again the defense, particularly senior goalkeeper David Dickey, kept the game scoreless. "I thought our season was over three times," commented Fortner, "David made three awesome saves. Two of them . . . it was amazing!"

The game then went to a shootout. Rock-Bridge shot first and Dickey made the save. Junior Chip Koester then put the Raiders up 1-0. Columbia then tied the score 1-1. Senior Richard Hubbard then put the Raiders up 2-1. Columbia then tied the score again 2-2. Senior Will Scruggs then put his shot just wide leaving the score 2-2. Columbia put their next shot over and Miller put the Raiders up 3-2. The game then appeared to end as Dickey saved another shot. On the re-kick Columbia tied the game 3-3. Junior West Valentine then stepped up. With nearly 2000 spectators looking on he placed his shot into the upper left corner. The Raiders had won the 2 1/2 hour match to advance to the finals.

The finals were again disappointing as a tired, injured Raider team fell to St. Louis Holy Rosary 4-1. Senior Mike Corbin, however, became the first K.C. player to score in a state final game.

Not only did the team finish second in state with a 12-9-2 record but individual honors were abundant as well. Senior co-captain Frazier Miller was named to the all-metro first team. Miller, Dickey & Scruggs were named to the all-district first team. Corbin, Valentine and B. Fogel were named second team all-district. Miller, Dickey, Scruggs, Valentine and Fogel were also named to the all-state team.

The teams seniors also said goodbye. Over three years they amassed a 37-22-8 record. Senior Mike Corbin summed it up, "Last year Repps (Stanford) said that ending his high school career in the state finals was the best way to end. I didn't fully believe that until now."

Quigley summed up the season "This team probably had the best passing skills of any team I've ever had. They outplayed everyone and when it really mattered, found a way to win."

V FIELD HOCKEY

The varsity A hockey team opened their season with a 2-1 victory over the Alumni. Their continuous hard work paid off with a thrashing victory over St. Louis' John Burrough's. Victory had never tasted so sweet considering that this was only the third time in thirty years that varsity A had defeated powerhouse John Burroughs.

The following weekend, Villa, one of the highest ranked schools in St. Louis, traveled to Kansas City only to be dealt a severe blow by the expertise of the Raider hockey team. Senior co-captain Cindy Twyman bubbled over with excitement as she exclaimed, "This is positively the best game we've ever played! We dominated both offensively and defensively. Villa definitely earned their devastating defeat."

Hot on the trail of revenge after their disappointing 3 to 2 flick off loss to John Bourroughs in St. Louis, the Raiders came back to soundly mutilate Principia.

Perhaps the acme of the season came with varsity A's final annihilation of arch rival

Barstow. Coach Avery Hughes commented on the final victory, "It took a lot of intense practices and grueling determination to beat Barstow. It was a very exciting way to end our season."

The varsity B team continually showed excellence both on the field and off. Their hard work and team commitment was clearly visible in their continual obliterations of Barstow throughout the season. Freshman goal scoring sensation Lydia Rheinfrank squealed, "We dominated over Barstow. We are just awesome, that's all!" Their next decisive victory took place in St. Louis as the B team crushed Principia four to nil.

As the victories over Barstow became repetitive, varsity B fought to keep up the intensity level while preparing for upcoming battles against superior teams from Oklahoma and Texas. Their concentration paid off as they held both teams to ties, thus ending the B team's season on a good note.

The entire varsity's season finale came with the long awaited dual against their "more experienced" fathers. Although the overconfident, well dressed fathers looked good and impressed the crowd with their golf skills and knowledge of body-checking, they were once again unable to overcome the supremacy and youth of their daughters. Father Steve Dunn commented, "As a rookie player I was astounded at the prowess of our girls varsity team. My suggestion for next year is that either we are allowed twenty players with two minute halves or we start practicing now and play the lower school girls team."

The varsities' victories this season, though not numerous, were well earned and clearly deserved. Senior co-captain Emily Rheinfrank summarized the season by expounding, "As with all sports seasons, their are zeniths and nadirs. However, I feel the zeniths definitely out-illuminated the nadirs this year."

JV FIELD HOCKEY

The 1987-88 Junior Varsity Field Hockey Team used their skill and speed to perfect their ability to play hockey. The long daily runs around Loose Park and quick sprints helped the J.V. players increase their stamina, which was much valued in their competitive games. Through hard work and continuous drills the J.V. Field Hockey players learned to cooperate and work as a team. This team had much experience from the returning Sophomores and Juniors. Their leadership and skill helped pull the team together. Junior J.V. scoring machine, Dru Gallagher, commented, "We Juniors dominated on and off the field." The Freshmen, however, were greatly appreciated. Their zeal to play was incredible. Even the position of goalie was quickly filled by several players. The team's biggest accomplishment was their victory over Barstow's Varsity B team. However, they proved to the Pembroke Hill eighth graders that practice makes perfect.

CROSS COUNTRY

This year's cross country team had a great season. The team had two people, Liz Kelsey and Paul Gauthier, who placed third and first in districts respectively. Also, Paul and Liz went to state finals. And Paul placed tenth overall in class 2A schools state-wide. Junior Paul Gauthier commented, "I was really excited that I had the opportunity to go to state and I hope to do even better next year."

The team was coached by Robert Boyd and Marcia Dowling. It was composed of about ten members ranging from the ninth through the twelfth grades. The team as a whole worked on creating more spirit and unity between themselves as a group. Lastly, the team shows a lot of promise for future years as many of the sophomores who ran this year are very talented. Coach Boyd commented, "It was a super year! Although in the beginning my expectations were not very high, they changed as the team developed a sense of spirit and unity. Finally, I think next year the team has a bright future because of the building we have done this year."

V FOOTBALL

"I think it was a situation where most everybody, parents, alums, and players, anticipated an outstanding season, and we had one." Coach Bob Hicks had no trouble judging the success of the 1987 Raider Football team. At the end of the regular season the Raiders found themselves with an undefeated 9-0, the first record of its kind since 1940. With a final record of 11-1 after the State Semifinals, the '87 Raiders had the winningest record in the histories of Pembroke Hill and Pem-day.

On the books, the Big Red had an extraordinary season. The ground attack racked up an average of 300 yards per game and was complemented by a strong air game that contributed an average of 100 yards. The over four hundred yards of total offense put an average of four touchdowns per game while the defense let by only an average of two scores. Strong special teams continually kept and put the Raiders into good field position and held enemies out of Red territory.

Individual strengths contributed to the high quality of Raider football, and many team members received recognition for their skill. Raider captains Brad Dixon and Robbie Hicks were both named to first team All-Metro and three more were mentioned, the most in Raider football history. Four were named first team All-District and ten to the All-Conference team. Coach Hicks received one of the most prestigious coaching recognitions, the Cecil Patterson Award, for being the greatest coach in the greater Kansas City Area.

Team Captain Carl VanTassell felt that the team could not have achieved its greatness without the influence of the dominant senior players. The seniors took all but one of the starting positions, due to their four years of weight training and even more years of experience. "There was an all-around team friendship," said Captain Brad Dixon. "Most of us had been playing ball with each other since the seventh grade, and we knew each others' abilities." Working together let the Raider team have the excellent record they did, and in the words of Captain Robbie Hicks, "Having a unified team made it fun."

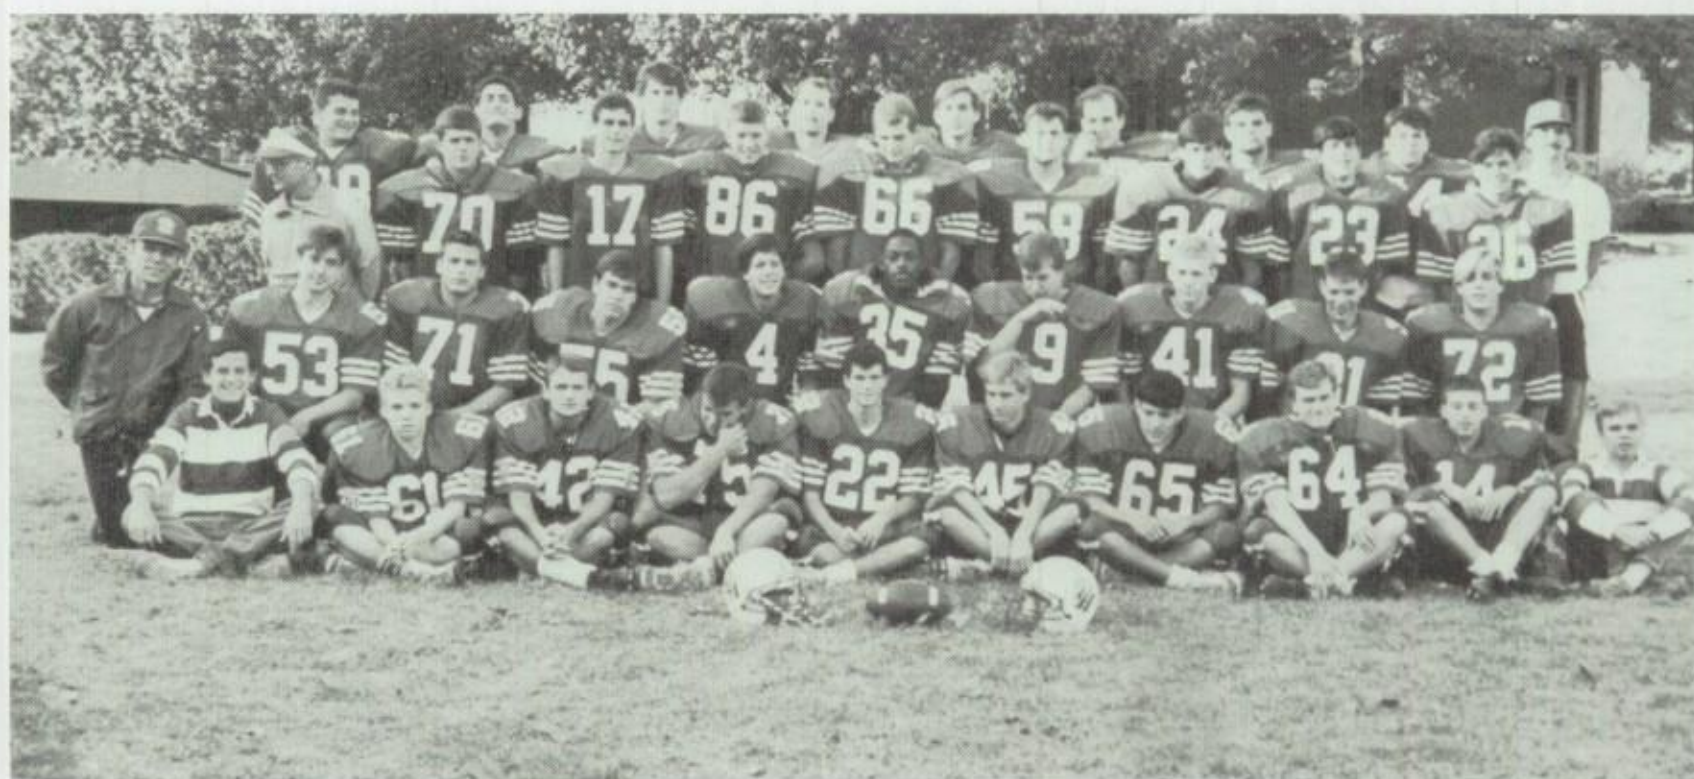

The most exciting aspect of the '87 Raider team was the offense. The offense was the most improved part of the Raider game and the air attack provided a versatility that had not been seen for years. "We put the ball in the air more than we ever have," commented Coach Hicks. The passing game accounted for a quarter of the season's offense and added the dynamic edge the team needed to prevail over opponents.

VanTassell thought that "this year's team could score points quicker than other years, so we could come back from behind." The Raiders did not need to play catch-up with the high caliber defense holding the other teams. The "bend but won't break" held opponents to half the scores that the Raiders made. Hicks credited the line and linebackers as the backbone of the defense. "When it came to the big plays, it always seemed to be a lineman or backer who made the tackle or came up with a sack."

The State Play-offs were the highlight of the season as the Raiders put their undefeated record first against Eldon and then Maryville, both of whom fell to the powerful Raider force. In the State Semifinals the Raiders were defeated for the first and last time, as they fell to the Branson Pirates.

One of the most exciting games was the St. Pius game. The game went into overtime and the Raiders won by flouting a two point conversion attempt. The game had a special meaning to Carl VanTassell. "We beat all the people I used to go to school with and don't particularly like."

JV FOOTBALL

This year the Junior Varsity football team greatly improved. They went from a fifty yard ground game to a one hundred and fifty yard ground game. In passing they went from twenty-five yards passing with five interceptions to three touchdowns in the air without an interception. Their opponents scored sixty points in the first two games and only six in the last two.

Coach Stewart said, "You can't judge this team by their record but by how much they improved." The bulk of the offense and defense were sophomores with a few freshmen and juniors. The players voted Jeff Horner the best offensive player and Bill Embry the best defensive player. Jay Homburger also did an exceptional job at defense. Bill Embry blocked the punt which gave the team their win over St. Pius. Cory White was the quarterback. He made an extraordinary improvement in passing. Greg Honan made the longest reception of seventy yards. Tim Blond had five touchdowns and also ran the ball very well. Sam Jones played both offense and defense and can look forward to a lot of playing time next year.

Coach Stewart was pleased with how much the team improved and said, "I'm really looking forward to next year because we have a strong eighth grade class this year. The pressure is really going to be on for this year's sophomores and juniors to fill the shoes of the outstanding graduating seniors."

The Seventh grade team, coached by Amos Branson and Mel Woods, had quite an exciting season this year. They played one game against DeSoto and according to Peter Hunt, "We lost majorly!"

Though they lost their game, it was a good experience for the team. Mel Woods stressed, "The purpose of the Seventh grade football program is to give them exposure to football and teach them fundamentals of the game. Next year, we plan to play two other Seventh grade teams, the Eighth grade team, and an intersquad game." Team member Jason Jones exclaimed, "I had a great time being a part of the team and I can't wait until next year. "

-Jennifer Chen

"The Eighth Grade football team this year was probably the best since this year's senior class." Said Coach Mel Woods. The team played some of the toughest middle schools in the area and finishing with an even season of 3-3; beating teams like Desoto (a 4A high school) 8 to 6 in overtime. It was dedication like that, that led defensive end Andy Parrot to finish a game with a fractured foot.

The team also suffered some disappointing losses like the Turner game, which was lost on a fumble ending with a score of 8 to 14.

Although their record may not show it, this was one of the best teams ever, and with players like Andy Atterbury at quarterback and Chris Cannova at center, next year's Freshman team is guaranteed to be good.

V TENNIS

Webster defines tennis as "an outdoor game that is played with rackets and a light elastic ball by two players or pairs of players on a level court divided by a low net." The Varsity Tennis Team gave new meaning to this definition. Women's tennis at Pembroke Hill is now known as "a typically outdoor game that is played with oversized rackets that are swung at velocities equaling the speed of light, and a light elastic ball that is pummeled unerringly from forehand court to backhand court."

The team morale was high as they began their season, increasing steadily as they were victorious in their opening matches. The winning streak continued up to the annual PHS Invitational, a midseason meet where the Raiders triumphed once again, taking first place in the tournament for the second straight year. The team finished the regular season by winning a tri-meet in Marshall, ending with a 13-1 record.

The outcome of the District Championship in October showed the strong individual skills of the Raider players, resulting in the qualification of four PHS players for the individual state titles.

Varsity Tennis then progressed to Sectionals in St. Joseph. The Raiders effortlessly conquered LeBlond in the first round, allowing the team a mere six games. Next they faced their long-time rival, Barstow, with almost identical results.

With heads held high the Raiders charged on to State in the Lake of the Ozarks, followed by a large entourage of fans. The PHS team faced Kirksville in the first round where the Raiders prevailed, 7-2. The Raiders then took on Visitation, the state champions of the previous year. The expectations of a tough match were met with a 3-5 loss and a second place trophy.

It was a tough ending for the team because of the strong unity that had been built up throughout the season. Atterbury commented, "It's sad to think of the seniors graduating; they really kept up the spirit of the team this year."

The following day the competition for the individual state titles began. Evans and Atterbury battled for the doubles title, winning three matches, but losing in the semi-finals. Mos finished seventh, playing an exceptional match against top-ranked Valley player, an unlucky draw for her first round.

The season was a big success, from the 15-2 record to the constant support of the team. Mos said, "We finally had actual fans at our matches to cheer us on, and I think that really helped us out." Senior co-captains concluded, "We feel that it was by far the best season we have ever had, not just because of the winning record and success in State, but because of our incredible team spirit and unity. We all had a blast!"

This year, the girls' J.V. was stronger than ever. All the team players worked well together and had a lot of fun throughout the season. The girls' coach, Ms. Jacobs, commented, "This year's team was full of spirit. They were always eager to play and practice. I am really proud of their efforts." Ms. Jacobs was especially pleased with their win over Shawnee Mission East. The team finished their season with six wins and only two losses. They played hard and deserved all of their victories. Sophomores Kris Kendall and Janet Johnson said, "The matches were fun and so was going to McDonalds!" The J.V. team had a great season and everyone is looking forward to next year!

V GIRLS GOLF

The fall of this year saw the beginning of yet another new sport at Pembroke Hill. Although there were only four members, the new girls golf team had a respectable first season. Senior Lisa Kiene, junior Katie McConwell, sophomore Alice Park, and freshman Barbie Belt composed the first varsity team and the coaching was done by Mrs. Jensen.

Manager Tim Honan commented, "The girls are young. If they keep practicing and work hard, they could be pretty good in the next few years." Pembroke Hills' first girls golf team did more than pave the way for the future, they delivered as well. The girls took second in the Richmond Tournament and came away with first place in thier last tournament. At Districts, the team followed up with a strong fifth place finish.

The girls golf team started small, but the dedication of its members should help the team grow and prosper in the next few years.

"When people ask me why I wrestle, I tell'em: When I walk down the street I want just one person to say, 'Hey there goes Joe Reidy. He's one of the best wrestlers to come out of Pembroke Hill!' I know it is kinda unlikely, but what the hey!"

That is how senior captain, Joe Reidy, summed up his four years on the Raider Wrestling team. Reidy, along with the other captains, seniors Jason Johntz and Eli Metzger, led the team to a 5-5 dual record. Despite the team's .500 record, the 87-88 season saw several outstanding individual accomplishments. For the first time in the school's history, a wrestler, Joe Reidy, won thirty matches in a season. Sophomore John Belshe became the first underclassman to qualify for the state tournament. Others who went to the state tournament were Reidy, Metzger, and Jontz. Never before had Pembroke Hill sent four wrestlers to state.

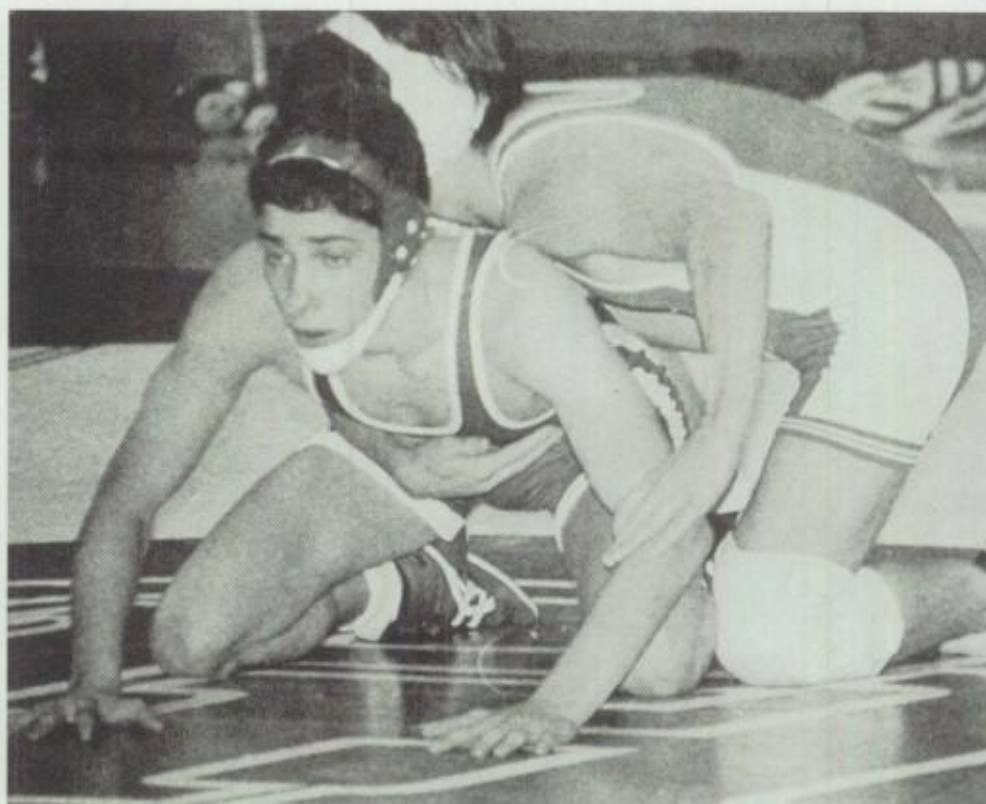

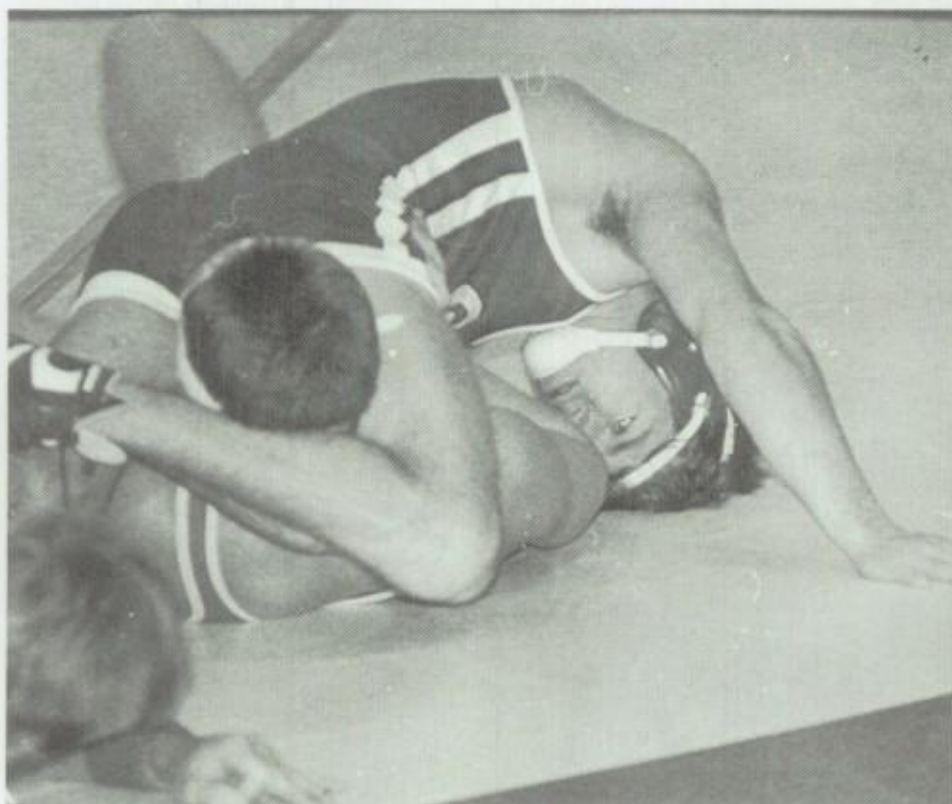

There were also some fine accomplishments during the regular season in addition to the state tournament. The Raiders battled the Rockhurst Hawklets in January for the first time ever. Coach Amos Branson commented, "For years Rockhurst refused to wrestle with us. This year they said OK and we wrestled them out on our own mat. We looked real good against them."

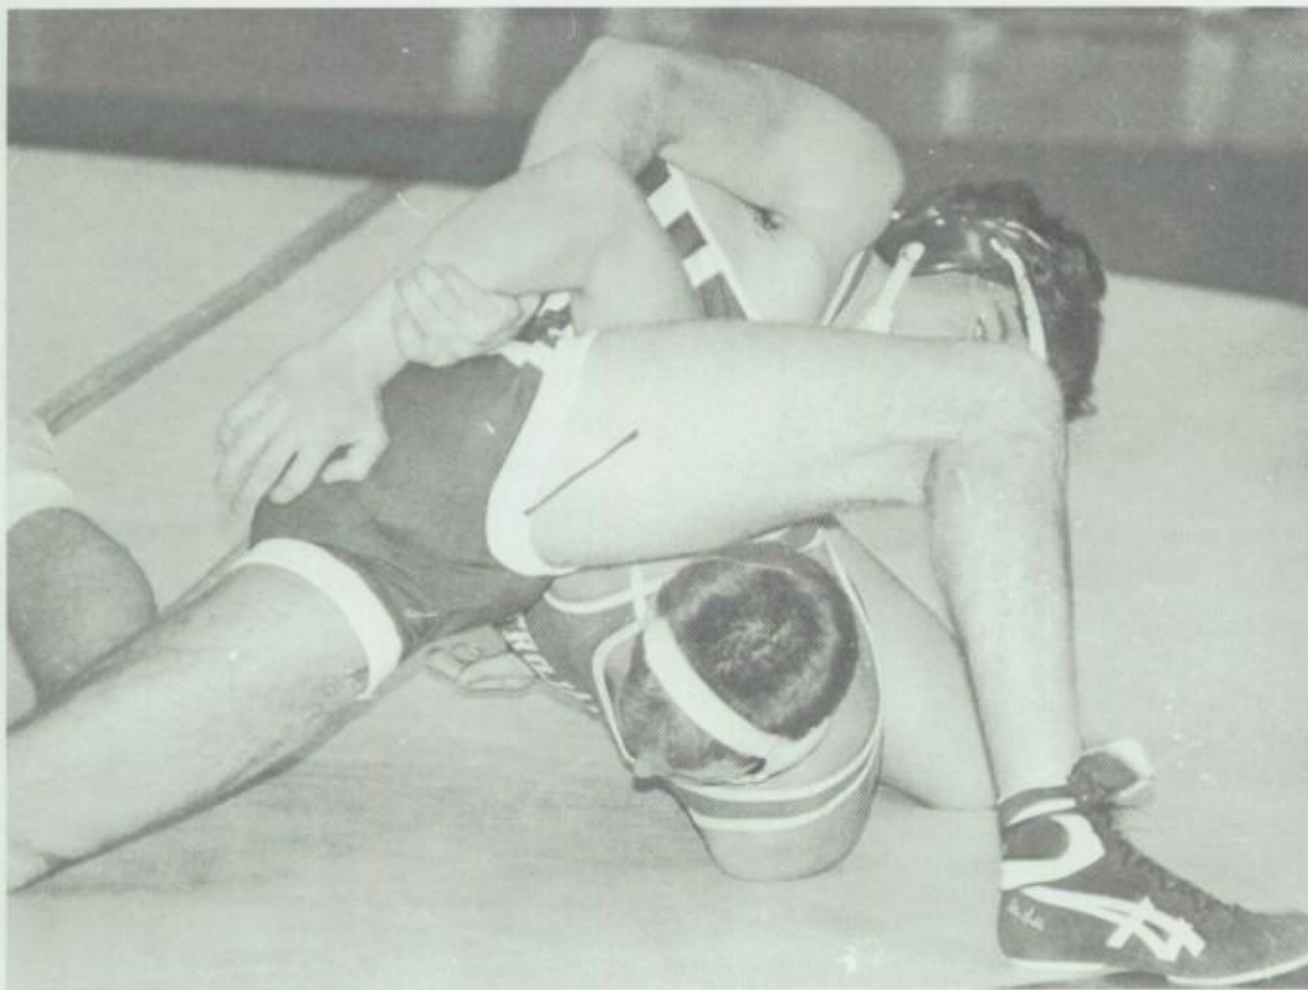

The Raiders also took on the 1987 defending state champions, the Oak Grove Panthers, and only lost by twelve points. Then they went on to defeat The Celtics of O'Hara, a team never before beaten by the Raiders. Perhaps their best accomplishment was winning the Conference Championship.

This year's junior varsity wrestling team completed the season with an impressive 7-3 record. Coach Bill Scruggs commented that, "This year's team held a lot of promise for next year. We had a lot of first year wrestlers but because they were mostly sophomores and juniors, they caught on quickly."

Junior Varsity Captains John True and Carter Davis led their team to some strong victories including a 45-22 win over O'Hara and a 42-6 route over St. Mary's. At the DeSoto Junior Varsity Tournament, sophomores Greg Honan, Kris Rajanna, freshman Greg Harding, and senior John True all placed in the top three. Of the season, sophomore Carter Davis said, "I think we did really well this year. I see J.V. as a starting point for the varsity wrestlers of the future." "It is true that these athletes hold the future of Raider wrestling in their hands."

The wrestlers who went out for the team this year were different than those that Branson had coached before at this level. "A lot of the kids had some experience, and also had been lifting weights out of season."

The seventh and eighth graders who worked out of season will have the potential to do well at the Varsity level, and Branson is optimistic.

The Seventh Grade girls basketball team was very impressive, according to their coach Susan Reuter. The team had a very good record considering they played many Eighth Grade B-teams. Commented Susan Reuter, "The girls played extremely well. Overall, they had a pretty good season. They did have a few disappointments because of overtimes, which is unusual for Seventh Grade teams."

The team's major upset was when they played Liberty for the second time. They lost by one point after three overtimes.

As you can see from the scores of these games, the womens basketball team at Pembroke Hill is well on its way.

The Eighth Grade girls basketball team started out shaky, but ended strong. At the beginning of the season, there was a minor problem when Bruce Burgess and Wendy Jensen stepped down from head coaches. Filling those positions were Middle School principal Tony Strub, Middle School History teacher Jim Ryan, and the varsity boys basketball coach Mel Woods. Although the girls only had two wins, they all admit that it was a learning experience. Julie Johnson said, "I think this year helped us and prepared us for next year's tryouts." All of the girls are anxiously awaiting the start of next year's season, and it seems evident from their efforts that they will make a significant addition to the Upper School program.

GIRLS V BASKETBALL

When asked to describe the 1987-88 Varsity girls basketball team, head coach Susan Reuter exclaimed, "The girls are a superb bunch of kids with a lot of talent!" This talent was witnessed at many of the games, but unfortunately the team was not as victorious as they had hoped to be. Plagued by injuries throughout the season, the Raiders continually found themselves facing opponents with as few as six or seven players. However, the Raiders managed to average twenty-three points a game. Highlights of the season included continual victories over Englewood Christian and participating in Districts. Although the Raiders were defeated in the first round by North Platte, their participation marked the first in the history of Pembroke Hill Girls' basketball. Sophomore Rachel Beard commented, "We really made a lot of improvement, and I'm looking forward to next year!"

"Winning isn't everything" is a phrase which the 1987-88 J.V. Girls Basketball referred to often. Despite their hard work and devotion, the players were unable to produce many victories. This, however, did not discourage the team: they knew it was important to concentrate on sportsmanship and teamwork, not just being Number One. As Freshman player Leslie Berkowitz commented, "We had a lot of fun although we did not win as much as we would have hoped to."

"Practice was really hard and the sprinting wasn't much fun, but when game time came, it paid off," said Claire Watkins.

The 87-88 version of the Raider varsity basketball team looked much the same as 86-87. The team had 4 returning starters and 7 returning lettermen.

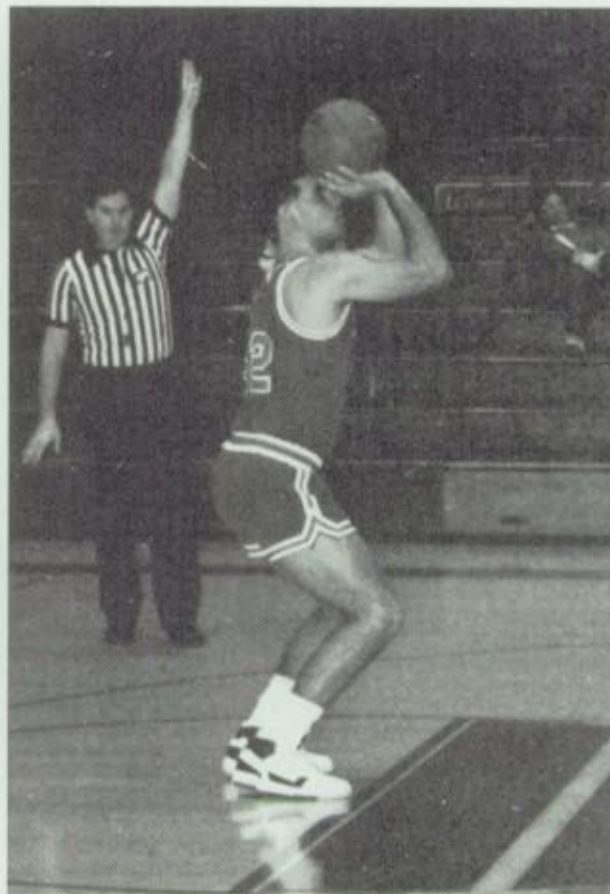

The first game was only two weeks into practice. The Raiders traveled to St. Mary's to help the Trojans dedicate their new gym and walked away with a 52-50 overtime victory. The 1st half of the season ended on an upswing as the Raiders brought home the 1st place trophy from the Holden Tournament. In the middle of the season the hoopsters were able to win the sportsmanship trophy at the Pleasant Hill Tournament as well as take 2nd place in the conference.

Districts again proved to be a disappointment to the Raiders. Seeded 4th, the Raiders defeated number 5th seed N. Platte and the destroyed 1st seeded St. Mary's in the semi-finals. The finals, a rematch of last year, pitted the Raiders against St. Pius. However, the results were the same as the previous as St. Pius pulled out a narrow 56-58 victory. Head coach Mel Woods commented on the season, "In my mind a winning record does not determine a winning season. It is character and sportsmanship. This was a winning team."

Two points. Just two points. The number of points the 1987-88 junior varsity basketball team allowed in the second half of their final game. "We played the best defense and offense of the year. At half it was 21-20. They scored just two points," commented junior Travis Day.

Head junior varsity coach Rick Allison, in only his second year, has already established a winning jv tradition. By finishing 8-5 this year he has a two year combined record of 17-8. "Coach helped get us going all season. He drove us when we just wanted to stop," commented sophomore Bobby Caughlin.

The Ninth Grade Basketball team enjoyed a lot of success. The team finished with a 7-3 record. They gained needed experience for later high school years. Swayne Cofield was the leading scorer, averaging fifteen points a game. Bryce Eberhart and Turner Deckert led the team in rebounds. This team really came together and showed a lot of support for each other.

There were two high points of the season; coming back from a deep deficit to win against Belton and playing an almost flawless first half against St. Pius X. This year the team learned a lot and it showed in their record. Mr. Campbell, the coach, added, "They learned to play team basketball, defense, and to fast break under control, all of which are valuable basketball skills."

This year the Eighth grade boys basketball team enjoyed more success than the teams of the past. They finished with a 6-7 record. Their best game was against Englewood Christian, which they won by 50 points. The team was very consistent throughout the season and played very well. The boys lacked height but made up for it with their shooting ability and their speed. Gerald Hall was the point guard and led the team as high scorer. He summed the year up by saying, "We had alot of fun and are looking forward to next year," The Upper-school is looking forward to working with such talent.

SWIMMING

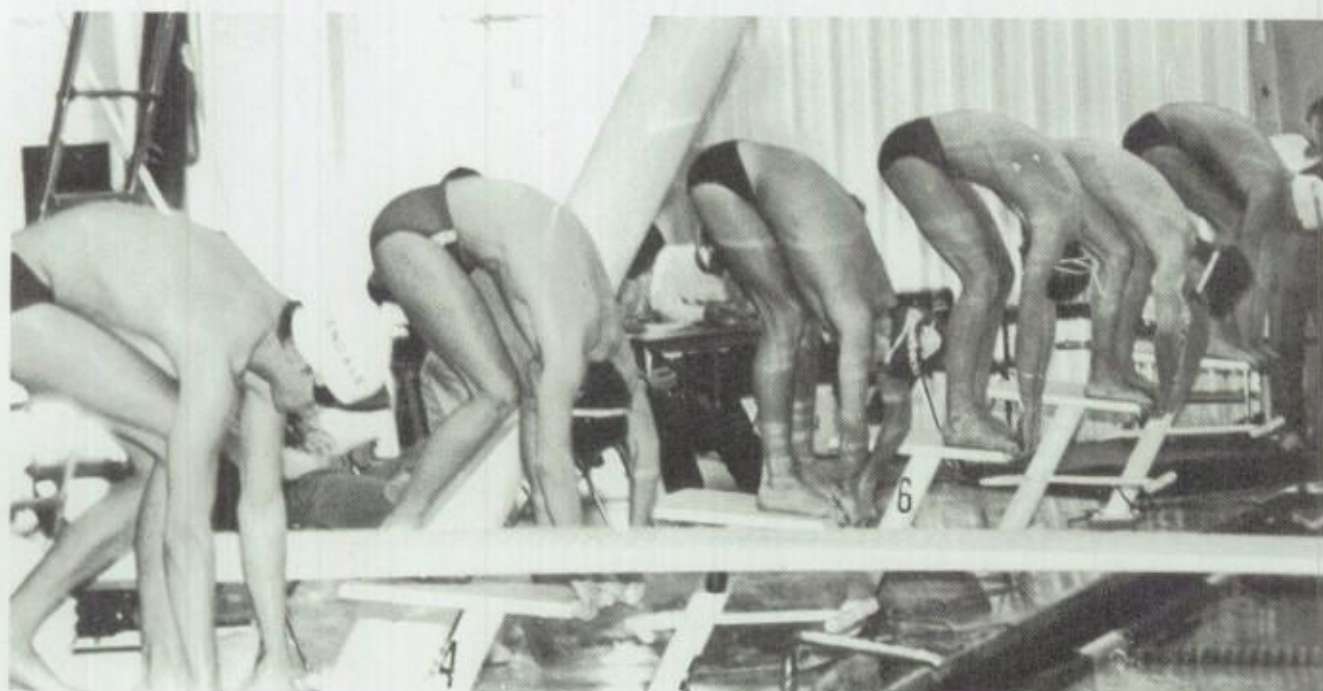

Although its four and six record was not all that impressive, the swim team had an exceptional year full of team and personal victories. Under the leadership and instruction of first year swim coach Latent Stuart, the team competed in fourteen meets, ten of which were duals and the other four larger meets.

The team competed hard throughout the season, and did especially well against competitors from schools of the same size. The larger schools, however, proved that their larger school body was the key to a highly successful team.

Six of the sixteen team members went beyond regular season to compete in the State meet. Junior Gerald Miller qualified for an impressive six events, and Senior Lee Reddin made the cut for three. These two led fellow swimmers Kelly Manning, Brett Cooper, Scott Beard, and Kaveh Niknia, to the event. As Senior Joe LaMothe observed, "The swim meet was impressive."

Overall the team finished among the top five 3A class. Swim Team Captain Lee Reddin commented, "It was a good season, we made some giant strides toward next year."

What would we ever have done without our managers? For one thing, the teams would have surely fallen apart. Managers were an important part of the team. They were the ones who repaired the injured players, carried the water bottles, brought towels, and maintained the equipment. Commented Kristin Hunt, "Tim Blond was very dedicated to the junior varsity and varsity basketball team. The whole team appreciated his ongoing commitment to managing."

V CHEERLEADING

Who gets our Big Red Raiders ready and raring to go for games? Who raises the Raider spirit to indescribable heights?

Yes, they are the Varsity Cheerleading crowd. With every ounce of power and determination that the squad could muster, the girls cheered their way through both the varsity football and basketball seasons. They were steadfast in their support, cheering at away games as well as home games.

The girls tried out in the spring; those selected then participating in a four day summer camp. They proudly left the cheerleading camp displaying four ribbons to mark their spectacular performances.

Coached by Mary Beth Marchiony, the cheerleaders had two weekly practices, in addition to their required attendance at all varsity games. The girls showed their spirit in school by decorating the halls with posters and balloons before big games, and in leading the pep rallies. Senior captains Christina DeBlase and Beth Dolan should certainly be commended for a job well done.

They cheered on the Varsity soccer team to a second place state trophy. They helped lead the J.V. football team to a winning record. They inspired the crowd at many other sporting events. They are the Junior Varsity cheerleaders. Playing a vital role in the life of Pembroke Hill athletics, these seven young ladies devoted numerous hours to the betterment of school spirit and enthusiasm. This group includes Freshman Courtney Slaughter, Tina Throckmorton, and Tricia Nelson, and Sophomores Liz Singleton, Tara Aaron, Gigi Thompson, and captain Robyn Dunn. So imagine when you are at your next Junior Varsity match what an awkward silence would fall over the crowd without these seven young ladies to lead your cheers.

The class of 1988, the future doctors, lawyers, politicians and prison inmates of the United States. This bunch not only partied and broke every rule that was ever made to be broken, but also found time to excell in scholastics, athletics, and leadership.

Rowdy, yeah, this class defined rowdiness by exploiting and using their seniority to their highest potential on the awestruck underclassmen. Advocating a monopoly on the senior room, the commons room and the halls, the class of 1988 left its mark on Pembroke Hill. Academically they placed several individuals in National Merit Competition as well as recognition for forensics, art, language, science and math.

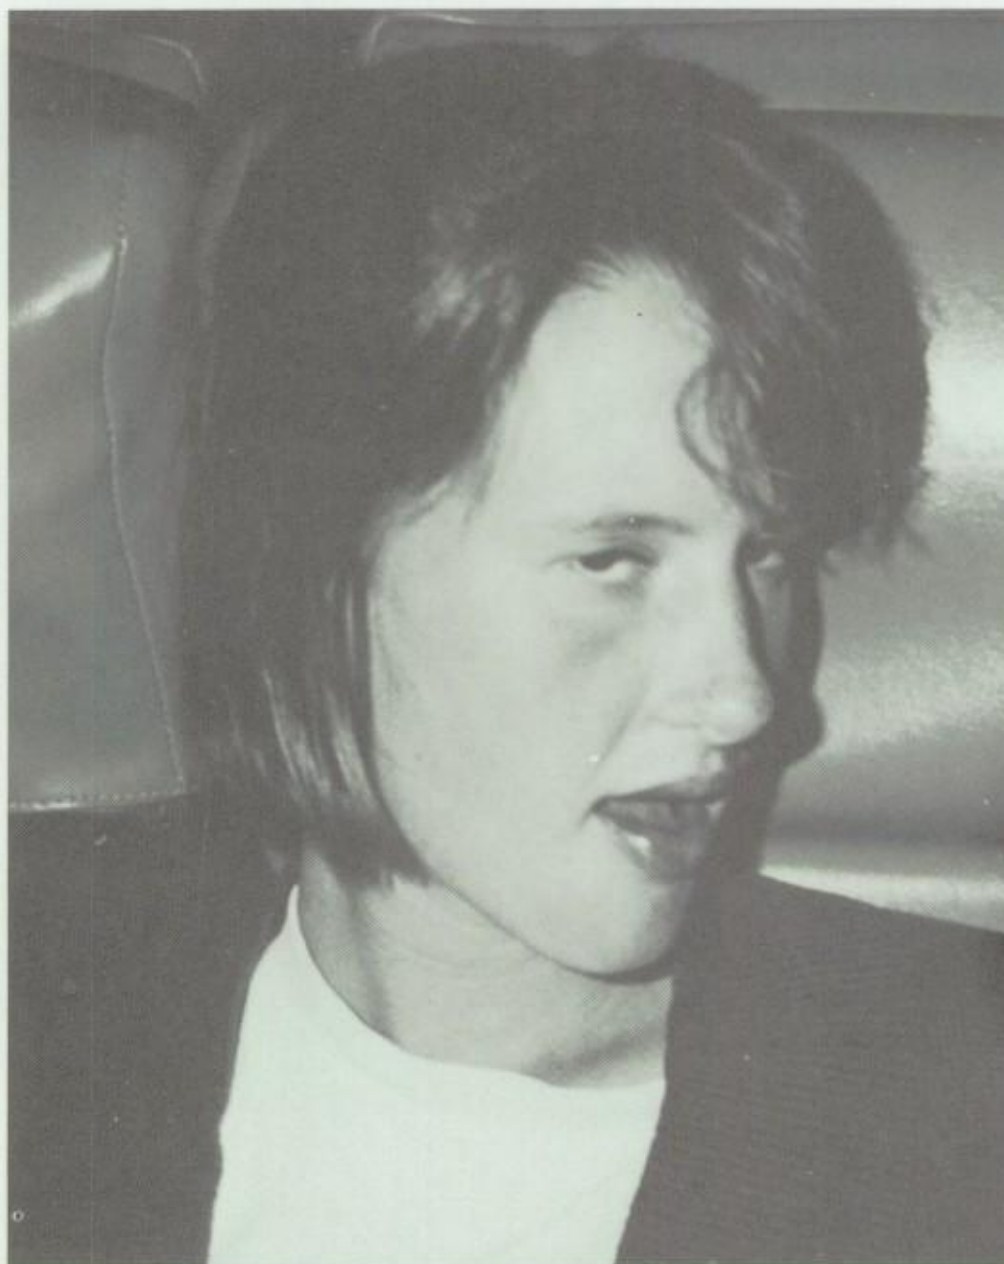

Atheletically, this class has left a place in history for not only the school to covet but for the state to recognize. The fall season saw girls tennis place 2nd in state. Men's soccer and football progressed to the semi-finals, with soccer going on to take second in state for the second year in a row. The football also managed to go undefeated in the regular season, only the second time in Pem-Day/Pembroke Hill history.

The leadership displayed by the seniors in athletics was also evident in the area of extra-curriculars. Not only did a suffering Garrett but also a non-existent Scholar made a stellar comeback. The Voice was revamped to national honor form.

AFS, Social Service and SADD, were all lead by seniors willing to devote the time and effort for an exciting and efficient year.

The class of 1988 will be remembered for its wild antics and righteous parties . . . also, leadership and devotedness to being all they could be at Pembroke Hill. The class of 1988 will be deeply missed by all.

"Faithful friends are hard to find"
 Even though it's the end of our senior year and we may go in different directions, I'm looking forward to my "Auntie Erica" days. I can't thank you enough for listening, understanding, sharing and caring, all on an "eye to eye" level. I don't know what I will do without you.

Thanks, you're the best.

Love,
 Erica

"Time it was
And What a time it was
It was a time of innocence
A time of confidences
Long ago it must be
I have a photograph
Preserve the memories

-Simon & Garfunkel

"Those are the memories we'll keep. They are too few. And I suppose the realistic chances of our seeing these young friends again are not so good.

But you balance the sadness of never having known them at all. That's the that life relentlessly imposes. And it is why the summer, which used to be youth's time of sunny celebration, begins this year under a shadow of regret.

Growing up is, most of all perhaps, the discovery of loss."

-C.W. Gusewelle

"Silences make the real conversations between friends. Not the saying but the never needing to say is what counts."

-Margaret Lee Kunbeck

JENNIE- a nickel for a pickle, Dogpatch, Kick the can, St. Paul's, Big Foot Club, Gas Boy, cassaroles, Dret, A-May-A-Mo, A-Puh-A-Puh, walks in the rain, Michigan, hammock- 4 things off the ground, your driver's licence, Virginia license, shiny black shoes- need I say more?

KELLY- Marco Island, chubby cheeks,

Kerrplunk, Breckenridge, M.S. + Bobby, cheerleading, Hlya, Ricecakes, shombi- one of the girls.

KENT- Allen Peter Baby Monty Python Fortner III, The film tree, Sauer Mansion, and the K.C. tour were my high school highlights. Your personality is one of a kind- don't ever let anything stand in its way. By the way, I don't suggest taking girls to the cemetery- it's harmful to the health.

DAVID- Thank you for being there whenever, wherever, and no matter what. I'm more grateful than I could ever let you know. My memories of you are unforgettable from Minnesota to K.C. and Michelob to driving lessons. Thanks!

ROBBIE- I know I sometimes grouch, but I've always appreciated your attempts to put me in a good mood. Love- Pearls.

CARL- I can't wait to go to college for a change of climate- all these bugs- February mosquitos and March gnats. Yuck! I can't believe you put up with me all this time! I'd say more, but I'll probably tell you in person anyhow so I won't bother to thank you yet. Sincerely- the second biggest dork you know.
